SENATE CALLS FOR RETURN OF ECONOMY BILL

Asks House to Send Back Report; Way Paved for Reconsideration.

ACTION IS DESIGNED TO HASTEN PASSAGE

$982,000,000 Appropriation for Independent Offices Sent to Conference.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The Senate yesterday reversed its economy position. By a vote of 29 to 17, it called on the House for return of the economy conference report it decided last week to reject.

The surprise move paved the way for action today on a motion to reconsider last week's vote. Senator Wesley L. Jones, chairman of the Senate conferees, sponsored the motion. It was identical with one introduced and withdrawn by Senator Charles L. McNary, Republican whip.

Opponents of the economy bill, containing the House furlough amendment, vainly sought to be heard against recall of the report as proposed just before adjournment by Senator Jones. All debate on this motion was ruled out of order.

Jones Offers Explanation.

Only after the Senate had agreed to the move was any explanation offered for the unexpected maneuver, and then not until Jones stood accused by several of his colleagues of reversing his own stand.

Reporting refusal of Speaker Garner to appoint new conferees, and the continued absence from town of former House conference members, Senator Jones said all possibility of conference action before Thursday thus was precluded.

"We must have this economy bill passed by Thursday or else the affairs of Government will be thrown into chaos," he said.

"Provisions contained in the economy report are applicable to all of the appropriation bills. If we do not reconsider the economy vote before Thursday, we must go back to each of the supply bills and write in these provisions."

$982,000,000 Bill Passed.

Just previously, the Senate passed the $982,000,000 independent offices appropriation bill and sent it to conference. Outside of the second deficiency measure, it was the last supply bill to pass the Senate. The chamber later concurred in House amendments to the $41,245,622 District supply bill, speeding it to the White House for signature.

A storm of protest attended the change of front on the economy report by the chairman of the Senate conferees. Senator La Follette (Republican), Wisconsin, asked to be heard before the vote. Senator Watson, Republican leader, asked that both La Follette and Jones be given three minutes. Senator Couzens (Republican), Michigan, objected.

A stinging rebuke was administered by Senator Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, a member of the original economy committee, following the vote.

He charged the Senate with "indulging in a very curious procedure," insisting it was never intended under the rules to cut short ample explanation of a measure.

Bingham Discusses Provisions.

Senator Bingham detailed three provisions of the economy report "that did not in any way meet the views of the Senate."

They included the impounding clause, rendering it impossible to retain in the service workers who would otherwise be discharged because of

Paris Ready to Loosen Imports Quota System

Paris, June 27 (A.P.).—Loosening up to the French quota system of limiting imports with a view to greater freedom for international trade was officially indicated tonight in connection with the announcement that the quotas would be renewed on July 1.

Many of the quotas would be increased 10 to 30 per cent, the announcement said. Where the present import quotas assigned to various nations are maintained, modifications would be made to make the system more supple.

Two Members Resign From Davila's Junta

Santiago, Chile, June 27 (A.P.).—Nolasco Cardenas and Armando Cabero resigned today as members of the new government junta, which is headed by Carlos G. Davila.

B. E. F. Faces Hunger As Funds Give Out; Bakers' Aid Sought

Gen. Glassford Quits as Treasurer of Army; Company at Camp Meigs Defies Order of Committee to Evacuate; Reds Are Ousted.

The specter of hunger hovered closer to the camps of the bonus army last night as their funds became exhausted and their prospect of food rested only in bread to be made from Farm Board wheat given by the American Red Cross.

With exhaustion of the army's funds, Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford resigned his post as treasurer of the army and sought aid in baking bread from the donated flour.

Meanwhile, the leaderless army tentatively set Thursday for the opening of a convention in Camp Marks which will formulate its policy and elect a new commander in chief to replace Walter W. Waters.

Communists, who have been trying to penetrate the ranks, were beaten and sent from the District yesterday. Some of the seeds of discord they had planted took root in Camp Marks, where the men protested against the election of a new commander in chief by delegates instead of by direct vote. This was one of the points emphasized by the Workers Ex-Service Men's League, a Communist organization.

Dissension is rife in the crumbling ranks. A company of veterans at Camp Meigs, ordered to evacuate by the executive committee, defied the order. "Executive committee or no executive, we're not going to move," said E. P. Wagner, of Erie, Pa., the commander of the camp. The order was issued because the camp constitutes a health menace because of its proximity to the Northeast Market.

"This is Government property, and we're not going to move unless they want to use force," said Wagner.

Another defection occurred at Camp

SENATE FUND VOTED FOR QUIZ INTO RENTS

Provides $2,500 for Inquiry to Cover All Phases of Capital Situation.

The Senate yesterday moved to investigate rents in Washington, appropriating $2,500 for a Senate District subcommittee inquiry.

The subcommittee, to be named at an early date by Chairman Arthur Capper, author of the resolution, approved yesterday, will sit through the summer months and report back to the Senate in December.

Under the resolution, adopted without debate, the committee may investigate "any and all conditions affecting rentals and rental properties in the District." It is directed specifically to inquire into charges that a "combine" exists between District realty interests.

The subcommittee will be instructed to "make every effort to ascertain the facts as to the rental conditions in the District of Columbia, as to vacancies, rents, construction, and any and all other matters pertinent to the inquiry, including financing of apartment houses and dwelling houses for sale or rent."

Alaskans Claim Finding Of Huge Gold Deposit

Cordova, Alaska, June 27 (A.P.).—Fred Johanson and E. E. Smith, Cordova prospectors, said today they have discovered "the biggest ledge of gold in the world," an area of low grade ore 1,800 feet wide and 1,500 feet deep. They have staked 22 claims.

Backed by Emil Helekal, Cordova business man, the prospectors said they found 300,000,000 tons of ore with assays running $3 a ton.

$1,000,000 Farm Board Fund Denied by Senate

(Associated Press.)

The Senate yesterday refused to give the Farm Board $1,000,000 from its unexpended balances for operating funds for the coming fiscal year, sticking to the $800,000 figure voted last week. The vote against a motion by Senator Nye (Republican), North Dakota, for the larger amount was 33 to 12. A $1,000,000 appropriation had been voted by the House.

Denman's Renomination To Farm Board Favored

(Associated Press.)

The renomination of C. B. Denman of Missouri, as a member of the Farm Board, was approved yesterday by the Senate.

Strike in Mexico Ties Up Railroad

3,500 Southern Pacific Workers Walk Out in Pay-Cut Protest.

Mexico City, June 27 (A.P.).—The Southern Pacific Railroad in Mexico was completely tied up this afternoon when 3,500 employes went on strike after negotiations for a settlement had failed.

A spokesman for the road here said the walkout was caused by the union's attempt to prevent the Southern Pacific from putting through a 10 per cent wage cut. The entire 1,300-mile road was shut down completely. No disorders were reported.

A report was circulated in Nogales, Sonora, that unless strikers return to work within 48 hours pending a hearing before the federal board of arbitration the Mexican government would operate the line with employes of the Mexican National Railways.

DISTRICT FUNDS BILL SENT TO PRESIDENT

$41,245,622 Report Backed by Both Houses Without Major Change.

The $41,245,622 District appropriations bill was sped on its way to the White House yesterday after the House approved the conference report on the measure and the Senate concurred in technical House amendments.

With the President's signature affixed, it will be the third of the governmental appropriation bills to become law. For more than an hour House members debated controversial provisions, then approved them without major change.

The expected rebuke was administered to the Senate by Representative Carl P. Mapes, (Republican), Michigan. He opposed the conference increase over the House "lump sum" allowance, from $6,500,000 to $7,775,000. The Senate had asked $8,550,000 as against the current allowance of $9,500,000.

The increase would not have been necessary if the Senate had passed the four local tax bills that bear his name, Mapes charged. He called on the Senate not to adjourn until it had enacted the measures, which would boost taxes here $4,000,000.

House conferees on the District bill urged Senate members to press for enactment of the tax measures, Representative Robert G. Simmons (Republican), Nebraska, disclosed. Both he and Representative Ewen L. Davis (Democrat), Tennessee, argued the justice of the Mapes measures.

One other controversial item was subjected to vigorous attack by Representative William P. Holaday (Republican), Illinois. He charged the

Democrats Rapped For Quitting Posts

(Associated Press.)

Senator Moses (Republican), New Hampshire, charged yesterday in a formal statement that the absence of Democratic members of Congress who have gone to Chicago to attend their national convention had brought progress on important legislation to a standstill.

"It spells a stagnation in the closing days of an important session of Congress, and what is more important, in the closing days of the fiscal year," he said. Senator Moses pointed out that the appropriation bills must be enacted by the end of this fiscal year, Thursday night.

Twice yesterday, as presiding officer, Mr. Moses counted senators present but not voting in order to count a quorum. Finally, unable to summon a quorum, the Senate adjoined until today in the middle of the consideration of nominations.

British Cabinet Scores Hoover Arms Cut Plan

London, June 27 (A.P.).—President Hoover's disarmament proposals were discussed and criticized by the cabinet during a session at the House of Commons which lasted more than two hours this evening.

It was understood the ministers agreed the Hoover plan did not provide enough naval vessels for the need of Britain. A program which permitted fewer large ships and more small ones would be more suitable and be just as economical for the taxpayers, the cabinet decided.

GERMANY FIRM FOR CANCELING OF REPARATION

NATIONS MAY SHELVE SESSIONS UNTIL FALL

Lausanne, Switzerland, June 27 (A.P.).—Germany categorically informed France today that reparations must be canceled.

This declaration, deadlocking the Lausanne conference, came from Count Lutz Schwerin von Krosick, German minister of finance, at a critical meeting attended only by representatives of the two governments.

Germany, the finance minister said, determined not to yield an inch in enforcing the policy of no more reparations.

Strongest Attitude.

This firm attitude—it is the strongest taken by the Berlin delegation since the Lausanne conference opened—was believed to have resulted from cabinet conferences held by Chancellor Franz von Papen in Berlin over the week-end.

Even before the finance minister informed the French that there would be no yielding, news circulated about Lausanne that both Germans and French were considering shelving the conference until next fall.

Back of this proposal was the fear that the French people would not permit their negotiators to surrender anything in order to effect a compromise, and that the German people would be similarly adamant.

Seeking Early Agreement.

Both Premier Edouard Herriot, of France, and Chancellor von Papen, were credited with desiring to reach an agreement with minimum delay. The premier also went home for week-end conferences with his cabinet. In Paris he found no sentiment for dropping the French demand that Germany continue reparations. It was evident today that the French and the Germans were further apart than ever.

In Berlin Herr von Papen encountered strong criticism based on an interview in a Paris newspaper, in which he was quoted as having accepted France's claim to compensation. He met this criticism by asserting he had been misunderstood, explaining that he merely had said Germany and France would get more by cooperating than by continuing reparations schedules.

5 Seized After Killing Of Mountain Preacher

London, Ky., June 27 (A.P.).—After arresting five men today in connection with the case, Sheriff Harve Steele and a posse left London with a district warrant and the intention of "cleaning up" the New Salem neighborhood, where a mountain preacher was slain and a posse routed yesterday.

The warrant was issued by Circuit Judge William Lewis, authorizing the sheriff to arrest any one in the section whom he had reason to believe may have had any connection with the shooting yesterday. Officers said they expected a number of other arrests.

MAJORITY MAY PICK TICKET AFTER 6 BALLOTS; TAMMANY BESOUGHT TO BACK RITCHIE

Anti-Roosevelt Leaders Study Plan to Help Marylander.

SILENCE UNBROKEN BY LEADER CURRY

New York Governor Is Held Betraying Weakness by Stand on Rules.

Chicago, June 27 (A.P.).—An agreement under which Tammany Hall and forces supporting Alfred E. Smith would throw their support to Gov. Ritchie, of Maryland, was under discussion tonight by members of the three groups.

Mayor Frank Hague, Smith's campaign manager, was understood to have sounded John F. Curry, Tammany leader, on the feasibility of throwing support to the Maryland governor, an avowed candidate for the nomination.

Held Show of Weakness.

Curry, although silent on the whole convention situation, was represented by those in close contact with him as doubting that Gov. Roosevelt could be nominated. He was reported to base this opinion on the change of plans on the two-thirds rule, since Tammany quarters generally felt this indicated weakness.

The discussion began apparently before it was clear that supporters of Roosevelt regarded his message only as a request not to bring up the fight on the two-thirds rule until the voting was under way.

Leaders Quickly Confer.

Hague, Curry, and John H. McCooey, Brooklyn leader and Tammany ally, went into conference immediately after word spread through the convention hall that the two-thirds rule fight was being dropped.

Whether the renewed drive by Rooseveltians to discard the rule in the event of a deadlock would make any change in plans was not known.

Gov. White Unexpectedly Departs for Convention

Columbus, Ohio, June 27 (A.P.).—Gov. George White, Ohio's favorite son choice for the Democratic presidential nomination, left late tonight for Chicago, scene of the party's national convention.

He previously said he did not intend to go to Chicago.

Man Dies as Auto And Truck Collide

Milton Kincheloe, 29, of Telegraph road, Fairfax County, Va., was killed yesterday when the automobile in which he and Thomas Arrington, colored, were riding was in collision with a heavy gravel-laden truck at the Cameron Run Bridge of Telegraph road. The driver of the truck, Sidney Merrian, of Arlington, was held by Fairfax County authorities on a charge of manslaughter. His bond was set at $2,500.

Arrington suffered fractures of the shoulder and arm and internal injuries. Both he and Kincheloe were removed to Alexandria Hospital by the Alexandria Fire Department. Merrian was not hurt.

Lindbergh, on Stand, Tells Of Dealings With Curtis

Recital Aims to Support State's Contention Boat Builder Contacted Kidnapers; Storm Outside Courtroom Recalls Night of Kidnaping.

Flemington, N. J., June 27 (A.P.).—Sweeping into action with swift stride against John Hughes Curtis, the prosecution in his trial for obstructing justice put Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on the stand late today, after outlining a brief and surprising case against the Norfolk, Va., boat builder.

Speaking in calm, even tones, the famous flier told of the fantastic dealings Curtis said he had with a desperate kidnaping band, of midnight meetings, journeys to the water front, and threatening demands relayed by Curtis that the kidnapers might "sell the baby to the highest bidder" among gangsters.

Thunder crashed, lightning flared and rain slapped against the windows as the tale was begun, reminiscent of the storm on Sourland Mountain only a few miles away the night Charles Augustus Lindbergh, jr., was snatched from his crib.

Adjournment at 4:32 p. m., Eastern standard time, interrupted the account, to be resumed at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

"On the evening of March 1 my son was taken from the nursery of our home," Lindbergh said, during preliminary questioning.

There was no break in his voice at mention of his dead son, though he paused several times, as if in thought.

The Lindbergh recital seemed pointed toward proving the prosecution contention, outlined in a brief statement of the case, that Curtis, instead of imagining all the dealings with supposed kidnaper intermediaries, was in actual contact with them.

Curtis even pointed out a kidnaper called "Dynamite," in Newark, N. J., the youthful prosecutor, Anthony M. Hauck, jr., declared, adding the State would prove beyond reasonable doubt

Nominations to Lead Platform's Adoption

Rules Changed to Allow Candidates to Express Views Beforehand.

Chicago, June 27 (A.P.).—The rules committee of the Democratic convention by a vote of 31 to 18 tonight decided to nominate candidates for President and Vice President before the adoption of a platform.

This would give a full opportunity to frame the platform in accord with the convictions of the candidate. It was recalled that after Smith was nominated four years ago in Houston, he elected to speak his mind frankly on prohibition—although his views had found no reflection in the platform.

Approval of the plan, reversing the usual order of procedure, came after the committee had rejected by a vote of 25 to 24 an amendment by T. J. Lyons, of Oklahoma, which sought to retain the same order of business as followed by previous conventions and to nominate candidates after consideration of the platform.

Lloyd served notice that a minority report would be presented to the convention and asked that the chair-

DISPUTES POSTPONE DRAFT OF PLATFORM

Delay of Day Is Forced by Fights Over Dry Law and Farm Relief.

Chicago, June 27 (A.P.).—Prohibition and farm relief disputes broke over the Democratic platform making committee tonight, forcing a day's delay in completion of the 1932 party declaration.

The prohibition issue was deferred without committee discussion as the wets went into a separate caucus to formulate a plank committing the party to repeal of the eighteenth amendment and immediate modification of the Volstead act.

Eleven States with 454 votes in the convention were represented in the wet movement launched by Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, who has the backing of Alfred E. Smith, anti-Roosevelt leader.

Roosevelt forces, with a comfortable committee majority, are confident of carrying a straight repeal submission plank, although the issue will go to the floor.

Boardman Lowers Chicago-East Mark

Newark, N. J., June 27 (A.P.).—Russell Boardman, Springfield, Mass., speed flier, hung up a new record today for the 840 miles between Chicago and the Newark Airport.

Flying to New York with Associated Press pictures of the Democratic national convention, he drove his low-winged Gee Bee speedster through stormy weather to cover the distance in 3 hours 37 minutes. The old record of 3 hours 54 minutes was held by Maj. James H. Doolittle.

(Associated Press.)

The Senate yesterday voted Distinguished Flying Crosses to John L. Polando and Russell N. Boardman for their nonstop flight from the United States to Istanbul, Turkey.

On the motion of Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, it revised a House bill awarding the fliers Distinguished Service Medals. The measure now goes to conference.

Wilkerson's Nomination Ignored by Senate Group

(Associated Press.)

The Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday failed to consider the contested nomination of Judge James H. Wilkerson, of Chicago, for promotion to the Circuit Court bench, probably killing action at this session. Members of the committee considered another meeting of the group unlikely.

Under existing laws, if Congress adjourns for more than 30 days, nominations die. President Hoover, however, could give him a recess appointment.

ROOSEVELT'S ORDER ON RULE LAST WORD

Willing to Accept Decision of Convention; Refuses Further Comment.

Albany, N. Y., June 27 (A.P.).—Gov. Roosevelt's order to his lieutenants at Chicago in a telegram today to halt the fight for abrogation of the two-thirds rule was the governor's last word on the subject, it was indicated at the executive mansion tonight.

From Roosevelt headquarters here came the word that the governor would accept whatever was decided by the convention on the two-thirds rule. Asked whether he would explain just how far he was willing to go, the answer came "the governor's telegram was perfectly clear." There was no comment from him on the rules' committee action in voting to abrogate the rule if the convention was deadlocked after six ballots.

The Roosevelt workers at Albany pictured the governor as feeling personally that the fight over abrogation of the rule should have been postponed until after his nomination battle was behind this convention. For several days, while the force of the effort grew with the urging of Democrats from some sections of the country, Roosevelt was described as passive. As late as last week, said a person at the executive mansion who desired his name be withheld,

Honolulu Youth Accused By Japanese Maid, 23

Honolulu, June 27 (A.P.).—Henry Chu Hing, 18, high school student, was arrested today in connection with the attempted criminal assault on a 23-year-old Japanese maid.

Detectives said the youth admitted the attempted attack and was positively identified by the maid as her assailant. She said the youth seized her and dragged her into the bushes in a Honolulu residential section as she was on her way to work.

Bank Clerk Held In Embezzlement

Robert B. Field, Anacostia Employe, Is Jailed After Hearing.

At a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Needham C. Turnage yesterday afternoon Robert B. Field, an employe of the Anacostia Bank, was charged with embezzlement and remanded to jail in default of $20,000 bond.

According to papers in the case, Field was arrested by C. B. Boland, agent of the Department of Justice Bureau of Investigation, and charged with embezzling $19,238 from the bank.

The Department of Justice handled the investigation into the alleged peculations, and the agents involved in the case desired to avoid any publicity. All losses to the bank, located at 3000 Nichols avenue southeast, are covered by insurance.

Roosevelt Drops Plan to Force Abolition of Two-thirds Rule.

WALSH IS FAVORED FOR CHAIRMANSHIP.

Chicago, June 27 (A.P.).—After a brief truce over the two-thirds rule, the Roosevelt forces tonight thrust through the rules committee a resolution to abandon the tradition-shrouded requirement if six ballots fail to produce the necessary votes to nominate.

After rejecting a proposal by former Senator Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio, to retain the two-thirds rule, the committee adopted the one put forward by the Roosevelt forces calling for its rejection. The vote rejecting the Pomerene plan was 31 to 20. That accepting the other was 30 to 20.

Debate swept in prickly phrases across a hot hotel room as those opposed to changing the rule assailed the proposal by Mayor Richard Metcalfe, of Omaha, to allow the convention to determine after six ballots whether the remaining voting shall be by majority rule.

Roosevelt's Position Stated.

Roosevelt headquarters tonight in a formal statement declared friends of the New York Governor had taken no action in any way to suggest that the rules committee approve the compromise reported tonight.

The plan was put forward a few minutes after the rules committee had met for its first session and had chosen J. Bruce Kremer, of Montana, a Roosevelt man, as chairman. It was immediately countered by the Pomerene proposals to strike out all sections of it that would change the two-thirds requirement.

The free-speaking Huey Long, of Louisiana, was on his feet instantly to advocate the majority vote instead of the two-thirds requirement. Pomerene replied just as hotly that it would injure "Roosevelt now and in the election, too," if such a proposal were "steam-rollered" through.

As the debate swept on, statements were springing from various of the rival presidential camps assailing Roosevelt for the change in plan that was outlined in his telegram this afternoon to his leader, James A. Farley.

Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, floor leader for Alfred E. Smith, was one of the most bitter writer of statements, but scarcely less so than was the brown derby candidate of 1928.

The general belief had been when the Roosevelt telegram to Farley was first announced that the entire fight on the rule had been abaandoned. Kremer a little later changed that interpretation.

Big Battle Due Today.

While the debate was proceeding in the rules committee, sentiment was being evidenced in some of the Southern Roosevelt delegations that they would meet such a modified proposal with a strong opposition as they had expressed in earlier caucuses today against the original plan to abolish the rule at the outset.

The opposition of these delegations, such as North Carolina and Alabama, was regarded as having possibly much to do with the decision of the Roosevelt forces to change their original plan.

NEW YORK STRENGTH PUT BEHIND SHOUSE

Smith Pleads Against Walsh and Issue Will Be Settled on Floor Today.

Chicago, June 27 (A.P.).—Tammany gave Roosevelt supporters of Senator Thomas J. Walsh a blow tonight just after the Democratic committee on permanent organization recommended that the Montana Democrat be made the convention's permanent chairman.

Al Smith made a characteristic ringing plea for the selection of Jouett Shouse instead of Walsh. Then the New York delegation, largest of all, voted overwhelmingly for Shouse, the Tiger throwing its strength solidly for him.

Both developments, along with Mississippi's decision to cast at least 13 of its 20 votes for Walsh, were only preludes, however, to settlement of the issue on the floor tomorrow.

The New York vote was in the form of an expression of opinion for the guidance of the New York member of the committee on permanent organization and does not bind the delegates.

But Smith chuckled over the outcome, declaring: "I guess this elects Shouse without any question."

John F. Curry, Tammany leader, who saw his organization fall perfectly in line behind him for the second time in two days, smiled broadly as the result was announced. The New York group yesterday voted against abrogation of the two-thirds rule.

Other Tammany leaders openly declared the outcome was a positive answer to the claims that Roosevelt would get a minimum of 45 of the New York votes.

There seemed little doubt, however, that regardless of any decision which may be reached by Tammany leaders, or a majority of the delegation, the New York governor will get the 26 to 28 votes which went to Walsh and for abrogation of the two-thirds rule.

The Walsh-Shouse tilt will be the first major collision on the floor between Roosevelt forces and their foes.

NOMINATIONS PLACED AHEAD OF PLATFORM

man, J. Bruce Kremer, meet with the opponents after the regular meeting of the committee to outline plans for presentation of such a report.

The rule sanctioned by the committee was presented by Daniel C. Roper, of the District of Columbia, a Roosevelt supporter, and was vigorously opposed by Daniel F. Cohalan, former New York Supreme Court Justice, and former Senator Atlee Pomerene, who led the fight against the committee's decision ot recommend abrogation of the two-thirds rule after six ballots.

ROOSEVELT'S ORDER ON RULE LAST WORD

Mr. Roosevelt was informed that his workers had decided upon going ahead with the abrogation effort.

It was learned that Friday night, after the "abrogation" meeting in the Roosevelt camp, the New Yorker was reached by telephone and informed preparations for the fight were completed. He was asked what he thought about it.

"Well, if you have gone that far, what is there for me to do tonight?" said the governor.

Roosevelt's Message On Two-Thirds System

Chicago, June 27 (A.P.).—Gov. Franklin Roosevelt's telegram concerning the fight for abrogation of the two-thirds rule follows:

This is no time for petty strife and momentary advantage. That truth becomes the more apparent when an honest difference of judgment is exaggerated by the opposition press into grave internal dissension. It is to avoid such an impression that I send you this message.

The need of the Nation, the need of the world, in these distressing days, requires avoidance of personal animosities and discussion of procedure, and calls for concentration of attention on principles and leadership.

With this in mind I have been giving much thought to the subject of adopting a majority nomination rule instead of the two-thirds rule used by previous conventions. The assurance of my friends that they have a definite majority of votes to adopt a majority rule seems to give me a personal and definite responsibility.

I believe and always have believed that the two-thirds rule should no longer be adopted. It is undemocratic.

Nevertheless, it is true that the issue was not raised until after the delegates to this convention had been selected, and I decline to permit either myself or my friends to be open to the accusation of poor sportsmanship or to the use of methods which could be called even falsely those of a steamroller.

I am accordingly asking my friends in Chicago to cease their efforts to secure the adoption of the majority nominating rule at the opening of the permanent organization. I ask this of those delegates who are honoring me with their support and who number many more than a majority.

I trust, however, that the common rules may recommend some rule to insure against the catastrophe of a deadlock or prolonged balloting.

If hereby a greater emphasis on harmony and the more important objectives of the convention is attained, we will have best served our party and Nation.

At the same time I ask all delegates to accept this in the spirit in which it is written and to do all possible to avoid a protracted convention and recriminations on any subject.

Will you be good enough to communicate this to the committee on rules, which I understand meets tonight.

Courses of Action Urged In Address of Keynoter

Chicago, June 27 (A.P.).—Here are some of the things Senator Alben W. Barkley suggested that the Democrats should do:

Reduce what he termed the exorbitant and indefensible rates of the Smoot-Hawley, Hoover-Grundy tariff act.

Inaugurate friendly international trade conferences with a view to reopening of normal trade channels throughout the world.

Open the channels of trade for farm products. Enact laws setting up cooperative agencies. Reduce the burdens of extravagance in government. Take the Government out of the dubious adventure of speculation in the products of the farm.

Effect a distribution of labor so that each person may have his share according to his needs and ability and opportunity.

Reduce the expenses of this Government not only for its own sake and that of the people, but as an example to smaller units throughout the Nation.

Abolish every useless office, every unnecessary bureau and commission.

Restrict the channels of stock market operations and expand those of commercial operations.

Effect some reasonable form of workable and enforcible assurance against bank failures and against loss when failures occur.

Recommend the passage by Congress of a resolution repealing the eighteenth amendment and submitting it to the people of the States through conventions whose delegates shall be chosen upon this issue alone.

TWO-THIRDS RULE MAY DIE AFTER 6 CONVENTION BALLOTS

when a minority report is presented to the convention along with that of the majority.

T. J. Lyons, of Oklahoma, who had argued for retention of the rule, served notice upon Kremer that a minority report would be submitted and that opponents of abrogation would fight for its approval.

Before the rules fight, however, will come that over whether Jouett Shouse or Senator Walsh, of Montant, shall be permanent chairman of the convention. The permanent organization committee went 36 to 12 for Senator Walsh.

The sole convention demonstration of any size today was set off by the keynote address of Senator Barkley, of Kentucky—a Roosevelt man and regarded as a dry—who declared for submission of repeal to the decision of State conventions.

Caucuses Refuse Support.

That held sway and commanded the gleeful attention of the many for the time. But as soon as the convention quieted again, it was Gov. Roosevelt's order from Albany against going ahead with the effort to authorize nomination by a simple majority that tipped the whispering tongues of all. News of the telegram to Farley had just run through the assemblage.

Through the morning, in continued State caucuses, defections from the Roosevelt leadership had come in such States as Alabama, North Carolina and Maine, leading his opponents to proclaim it meant the hundred-year-old two-thirds tradition would live on at least for the present. The word soon spread that its enemies would give up the ship, various Roosevelt captains denied it, but surely enough the telegram was forthcoming before long.

On the surface of the crowded convention floor proper there were but the barest hints of the strife at work underneath. Both Roosevelt and anti-Roosevelt leaders hurried hither and yon to consult with spokesmen for State delegations, then left the scene.

Senator Barkley had the audience with him from the word go—especially in his denunciation of Republican deeds in general and the Hoover administration in particular; and finally when he urged submission of a repeal amendment.

Jumping at that signal, delegation after delegation pushed in parade through the narrow aisles in backslapping good humor, cavorting and shouting and acting to all appearances as one. But it was noted that the State standards of Virginia, Nebraska, Oklahoma, North Carolina, Alabama and Kansas stayed fast—and delegates in those vicinities remained seated.

The convention had given voice to enthusiasm in a mild way on but a few other occasions. One was when Barkley paid tribute to the war-time President Wilson, whose widow acknowledged the applause with bows from her box facing the speaker's stand.

Another was when Al Smith was escorted in by police, hurrying to the New York delegation to sit in front of John W. Davis and Mayor "Jimmy" Walker. For barely a minute the applause went on, and he was seated before many could see him.

Ritchie and Byrd Applauded.

Others who won the applause from the packed floor and almost filled galleries included Govs. Ritchie of Maryland and Murray of Oklahoma and former Gov. Byrd of Virginia—all out after the nomination with the very vocal support of their State delegations.

In old-fashioned stump style, and with a penetrating voice that grew hoarse as he spoke on for two hours, Senator Barkley singled out the Smoot-Hawley tariff and the Farm Board especially for his barbs. The first, he said, brought retaliation from more than 40 nations to the detriment of American trade. He termed the latter a $500,000,000 failure.

The Democrats have fully cooperated with the administration toward alleviating the existing emergency, Barkley concluded, in presenting this picture:

"Our house was on fire and we could not stop to dispute over the brand on the hook and ladder. Though the fire chief was known to be vacillating, uncertain, timid and afraid of the smoke and flames, we have tried to make the best of it and get along with him until we can secure a better one, which we expect to do on the fourth of next March."

Raskob's Surprise Speech.

Forty-five minutes late in starting, with Chairman John J. Raskob and the police having much difficulty in getting the crowding delegates in order, the opening session went for three hours before it adjourned at 4:08 p. m.

In greeting the convention on behalf of Chicago, Mayor Anton Cermak brought the first brief rise with a declaration for flat repeal of prohibition. The same view was given in a surprise speech by Raskob, in which he said:

"The Republican party should hang its head in shame for the deceit it attempts to perpetrate on the citizens of the United States in presenting the prohibition plank contained in its platform. That plank, like its authors, is so intellectually dishonest that its mere presentation insults the intelligence of American citizens."

The one time that quiet blanketed the huge gathering was when Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, prayed with reverent voice and bowed head as the first woman ever to give the invocation at a national political convention.

BONUS ARMY IS OUT OF FUNDS; BAKERS ASKED TO COOK BREAD

Bartlett, when 145 veterans from California, after a dispute in the camp, left in chartered buses and took up quarters in a building owned by the Department of Agriculture near Thirteenth and B streets southwest.

Hope of aid was seen by the veterans in action of the Senate yesterday in placing on its calendar the bill of Senator Costigan (Democrat), of Oklahoma, calling for an emergency relief appropriation of $75,000 for the veterans and other transients.

Without discussion, a motion by Senator Blaine (Republican), of Wisconsin, to discharge the Senate District committee from further consideration was approved. The measure also provides for $600,000 relief for needy District residents.

A resolution of Senator Copeland (Democrat), of New York, to authorize an appropriation of $100,000 to be administered by the District Commissioners to aid the veterans and transport them home was tabled temporarily. Senator Copeland plans to call it before the Senate for action today.

In a plea for cooperation in getting the veterans back home, Gen. Glassford last night said the problem of food and shelter "will soon become acute. Many of the buildings now occupied by the veterans must be evacuated so that the Federal building program may not be arrested and hundreds of men thrown out of work. It may be expected that the return of 143 pyramidal tents borrowed from Maj. Gen. Anton Stephan will soon be called for."

In his announcement of exhaustion of funds, Gen. Glassford said: "It does not seem practical for the bonus expeditionary forces to remain in Washington, and I urge that immediate steps be taken to cooperate with me in sending the veterans back to their homes."

There is less then $200 in the treasury, all but $17 of which must be used to pay outstanding bills. Capt. William G. Stott will resign today as commissary officer of the army.

Gen. Glassford said the general sentiment of District residents is against the proposed occupation of the District by an increased force of veterans. Their continued presence here, he said, will serve no useful political purpose.

The veterans evinced little worry over food prospects. "We still have faith that the people of the United States will not let us starve," said the executive committee of the army.

Bakers' Aid Is Sought.

The Ottenberg Bakery will bake 500 pounds of bread each day for the veterans. L. A. Speiss, head of the Washington Bakers Association, is trying to have other bakeries make bread for the veterans. All undelivered bread of the Washington bakers will be given to the bonus army today. Efforts to have service units bake bread also are being made.

The veterans evicted six members of the Workers Ex-Service Men's League who were distributing Communist literature attacking leadership of the army. Herbert Young, of New York, and Joseph Vacilloti, of Passaic, N. J., were beaten and escorted to the Maryland line. Headquarters of the army said they could not be blamed for action of the veterans if "Reds" continued to stir up trouble.

Successor to Waters.

A successor to Waters will be elected at the convention. There is a movement afoot to replace Waters, while others are booming George Alman, former commander in chief, and Mike Thomas, commander of Camp Marks, to lead the army.

Only three veterans took advantage of the offer of railroads to transport them home at one third fare. They are required to show discharge papers before they may buy tickets. Few departed yesterday, while the ranks were increased by 200 from San Francisco, 120 from Brooklyn, and 50 from Chicago.

Drowned Scientist Used to Live Here

Miss Ames, of Harvard Observatory, Attended Capital Schools.

Miss Adelaide Ames, research assistant at Harvard College Observatory, who was drowned in Squam Lake, N. H., Sunday, was a former resident of Washington.

She attended Cook School and Western High School when her father, Col. Thales L. Ames, U. S. A., was stationed here. Her parents are now at Cambridge, Mass.

Miss Ames was a graduate of Vassar and Radcliffe Colleges. She was prominent as an astronomer, her name appearing in many publications of the Harvard Observatory.

Alleged Gambling Place Raided; One Man Held

Armed with a warrant issued by Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, police superintendent, police raided an alleged gambling place at 715 O street northwest yesterday afternoon, and arrested Francis E. Lynn, colored, 22, of 1531 Eighth street northwest. He was charged with setting up a gaming table.

G. O. P. RULE LASHED IN KEYNOTE SPEECH

Senator Barkley Advocates Vote on Repeal of 18th Amendment.

Chicago, June 27 (A.P.).—A biting attack upon Republican rule through three administrations and a plea for a vote on repeal of the eighteenth amendment were laid before the Democratic national convention today in the keynote speech of Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky.

The Kentuckian punched and jabbed unceasingly at his Republican foes—calling the Harding administration the "darkest chapter of public betrayal in the history of this or any other nation," heaping blame on President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon for an "orgy of speculation and inflation that had no foundation in real values," and terming the Republican plank on prohibition "a promiscuous agglomeration of scrap lumber."

Senator Barkley denounced President Hoover and the Republicans for the "exorbitant and indefensible rates" of the Smoot-Hawley tariff act and promised "to lift tariff making above the sordid processes of log rollers and back scratchers."

Eighteenth Amendment Repeal.

The keynoter gave over the major part of his speech to mistakes he charged to the Republican party since 1920. He did go into the prohibition question rather deeply, however, and urged that the convention recommend the passage by Congress of a resolution submitting a repealer of the eighteenth amendment for ratification by the people through State conventions whose delegates shall be chosen upon this issue alone.

"If the people are to pass again upon this question," he declared, "let them pass upon it in such bald, naked and unequivocal terms as to make their decision intelligent and certain."

The history of the stock market "boom" was recounted and blame for the collapse was placed upon the leaders at the helm of the Naton. Barkley said expenses of the national Government had increased under President Coolidge "more than $650,000,000." He gave credit to the present Democratic House for reducing President Hoover's requests for appropriations "by more than $100,000,000."

"Useless Officers" Scored.

He bespoke enactment of laws setting up cooperative agencies through which the farmer may work out his own problems over a period of years, along with a recommendation to take the Government out of "the dubious adventure of speculation" in farm products, and installation at the head of the Department of Agriculture of a Secretary who has "some knowledge of the subject and some sympathy for those who struggle with it."

He promised that the Democrats would "abolish every useless office, every unnecessary bureau and commission" and proposed that the Democrats solve the tariff problem by inaugurating friendly international conferences with a view to reopening normal trade channels in the world and make the tariff commission a fact-finding body for Congress.

To strengthen the banking structure he urged giving consideration to revising the Federal Reserve act to insure more direct contact with commercial banks and borrowers.

The keynoter advocated consideration of the five-day week or the six-hour day as a possible solution of employment problems growing out of the country's industrial advances and, concluding, declared:

RADIOS OF CAPITOL TUNED IN ON CHICAGO

(Associated Press.)

Senator Barkley's keynote speech before the Democratic national convention in Chicago had an attentive audience yesterday in the reading room just off the Senate chamber.

A radio there was surrounded with Republicans as well as Democrats, as the Kentucky senator tore into the Republican record and demanded election of a Democratic President.

Other radios in the Senate Office Building and various nooks of the Capitol had groups of senators and their clerks clustered about them. The same prevailed on the House side.

There was little comment other than the usual Democratic statement that it was a "fine speech" and the Republican retort that it was "old stuff."

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, said, "Senator Barkley's address is a forceful statement of Democratic principles. His message was well received by the convention and I believe it makes an effective appeal to the country."

Speaker Garner did not listen to the speech, though other members availed themselves of the opportunity to use the radio in his office. The Speaker declined any comment.

Representative Rainey, the Democratic leader of the House, said: "He presented the argument with great force, especially the inconsistencies and failures of the Hoover administration."

Senator McNary, assistant Republican leader of the Senate: "It was characteristic of Democratic keynote speeches which usually are confined to criticism."

Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York: "It was an admirable address."

Senator Sheppard (Democrat), of Texas. "On the whole it was an excellent address, but I do not care to comment on the prohibition feature until I see what the convention does."

Extra Time Looms For District Group

House May Allot Additional Hours to Legislation Still Pending.

The House District committee was notified yesterday that it may be given House time for consideration of unenacted District legislation when the Speaker calls the roll of committees within the next few days.

Lacking action here, Representative Loring M. Black (Democrat), New York, said he would make a formal request for recognition. Representative Mary T. Norton, chairman of the District committee, is in Chicago.

Representative Black said he will seek the floor for action on bills empowering the District Commissioners to close unnecessary streets, accepting Senate amendments to the firearms bill, authorizing the Washington Gas Light Co. to construct a gasholder in Southeast Washington, and setting up a board of indeterminate sentence and parole in the District.

Democratic Fund Here Over Quota

Only Two States Subscribe Amounts Set in $10,000 Drive for Victory.

With the announcement yesterday that the District had raised more than its quota of $10,000 for the Democratic victory fund, it was learned that only two States, Delaware and Maryland, had reached their quotas.

The amount assigned to the District was more than any of twelve States, William McK. Clayton, president of the Jackson Democratic Association of the District, said.

Democrats of the District have raised more money than the total of the States of California, Kentucky, Nebraska, Idaho, Oregon, Wisconsin, Washington, Vermont, North and South Dakota, Nevada, Iowa and Maine, he stated.

$350,000 Relief Fund Committee Is Named

Preparing for administration of the $350,000 relief fund provided in the pending District appropriation bill, the Board of Public Welfare has named a committee to map preliminary plans and is scouting for a full-time director of considerable experience to have charge of this unemployment relief, George S. Wilson, director of public welfare, revealed yesterday.

The committee is composed of Sidney P. Taliaferro, former commissioner; Paul Kirby, assistant director of public welfare, and Mr. Wilson. The full board will hold a meeting as soon as the inclusion of this item in the District measure is assured. The fund, though available on July 1, will not be distributed until August 1 because of the necessary preliminary administration work.

ROOSEVELT IN NEED OF 100 MORE VOTES

Canvass of Delegates Shows 152 Hold Balance in Nomination Fight.

(Copyright, 1932, by the United Press.)

Convention Headquarters, Chicago, June 27—Gov. Franklin Roosevelt, of New York, must recruit to his cause more than 100 additional votes if he is to attain the Democratic presidential nomination under the two-thirds rule.

Stacked against this was the vote pledged to other candidates, which totaled 341 tonight.

To win, Roosevelt must gather to himself 109 of those votes—or else must alienate votes from delegations pledged or instructed to other candidates. The opposition need only win to the standard of one of its seven candidates 44 of the 152 unpledged delegates to stop Roosevelt short of the necessary two-thirds.

The above figures concede Roosevelt 25 votes from New York, 45 from Pennsylvania, 2 from the Virgin Islands, 6 from the Philippines and 8 out of Illinois' 58. The opposition does not concede him such strength in those delegations, although shrewd observers considered those figures fairly accurate.

New York and Illinois, by giving Roosevelt the remainder of their delegations, could, on the basis of these figures, nominate him.

SENATE TO REVIEW VOTE ON ECONOMY

appropriation cuts; the section requiring dismissal of married workers, where husband and wife are employed in the service, and the provision for forced retirement of superannuated employes.

"Now, we are undoing all we have done," he said.

Senator Jones at once launched into a defense of the impounding provision recommended by the House, holding that only through this clause would any savings be possible from the furlough plan.

Representative Snell, New York, Republican House leader, said yesterday:

"We are for the conference report, and are going to stand for it. They won't get a thing unless they pass that."

I. C. C. Fund Retained.

Before passing the appropriation for independent offices, the Senate rejected the appropriations committee's recommendation that the Interstate Commerce Commission's revaluation fund be cut to $750,000. The Senate voted for retention of the $2,750,000 House figure.

Senators La Follette and Chairman Couzens of the Interstate Commerce Committee opposed any cut. The former charged an attempt to repeal the recapture clause of the Transportation act. Senator Couzens declared the reduction was sponsored by the railroads, who he charged want to "wreck" revaluation machinery.

WEST VIRGINIA MINE STRIKER SHOT DEAD

Seven Others Are Wounded at Maidsville and Two Guards Are Held.

Morgantown, W. Va., June 27 (A. P.).—Guns blazed at the Maidsville Mine of the Kelley's Creek Colliery Co. late today. One man was slain and seven were wounded, one critically.

Dr. W. H. Howell, a surgeon, driving past in his car just as the disorder flared, notified authorities, called for ambulances and gave preliminary treatment to the wounded.

Armed guards were standing near the mouth of the mine while two workmen were shoveling sand from a truck nearby, Dr. Howell said.

A crowd was gathering. Dr. Howell said he did not hear what passed between the crowd and the guards, but that the latter suddenly opened fire.

Eight men staggered and fell. Dr. Howell stopped his machine and rushed toward the group. He found James Shaffer, about 30, a striking miner, dead.

State police arrested Herbert Vance and J. R. Thompson, mine guards. They were placed in the county jail pending inquiry.

Six of the wounded were removed to a hospital. They are:

Derigo's condition is reported precarious.

The disorder was the first since a strike was called in Northern West Virginia two weeks ago.

Wife Slayer and Suicide Was Not Former Convict

Chicago, June 27 (A.P.).—The Associated Press erroneously reported, June 25, that Roy Parks, who shot and killed his wife, his son, and Mrs. Barbara Endre and then committed suicide, was a former convict.

The information was obtained from the Chicago police. Matt Miller, brother-in-law of Parks, says the information was incorrect. The Associated Press is glad to make this correction.

THEIR GUNS BOOM ALONG THE DEMOCRATIC FRONT

LINDBERGH ON STAND AT TRIAL OF CURTIS

the boat builder was in actual contact with the kidnapers.

The testimony proceeded to an obligato of objections from defense attorneys, blocked earlier on several motions to halt or delay prosecution. Repeatedly they claimed their client was being "persecuted, not prosecuted."

First Meeting With Curtis.

The crowd, which had craned and steamed in the sultry courtroom during a tedious day of arguments, recesses and examination of jurors, sat in strained silence as the story was unfolded.

After consulting a small leather notebook, Col. Lindbergh said he first met Curtis, with Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, retired, and the Very. Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, about the middle of March. The boat builder told of being approached by a man who claimed he could effect return of the baby.

"Mr. Curtis wanted to know what amount it would be willing to pay," the colonel said.

Lindbergh replied, he went on, he would not discuss ransom until he was satisfied the persons with whom he dealt had the baby.

Threat to Sell Baby.

Curtis later told him the kidnapers wanted $25,000 in a Norfolk bank as "earnest money."

Even after a futile $50,000 ransom was paid through another intermediary, Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon, Curtis insisted he was in touch with the real abductors, Lindbergh related.

Supporting this, Curtis told how he had been shown and had checked several of the bills paid by Dr. Condon in a Bronx cemetery, to a man known as "John."

The colonel described a trip made by himself, Lieut. George L. Richard, U. S. N., and Edmund B. Bruce, friend of Curtis from Elmira, N. Y., to meet Curtis at midnight at Cape May, N. J.

Curtis said he had talked with the gang, and they had asked if Lindbergh would withdraw publication of the list of ransom bills. The boat builder also related, the witness said, that the "John" of the gang, its "most dangerous criminal," had threatened to sell the baby to the highest bidder among gangsters.

Col. Lindbergh said Curtis took credit for having dissuaded "John" from this plan.

New York, June 27 (A.P.).—James Mattern, of Fort Worth, Tex., and Bennett Griffen, of Oklahoma City, planned today to take off from Floyd Bennett airport Wednesday on a globe-encircling flight in which they hope to break the record of 8 days and 15 hours, established last year by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty. Their big red, white and blue monoplane is now practically ready.

Norfolk, Va., June 27 (A.P.).—Man took to the air today on a mission of mercy to a flock of wild geese, reported starving in Currituck Sound, in North Carolina. A preliminary survey was planned by H. A. Renner, secretary of the Norfolk Isaac Walton League, preparatory to obtaining and distributing grain for the geese, which are said to be too weak to fly to Northern breeding grounds. Renner was accompanied by Maj. Gordon R. Young, United States Army engineer, who is studying erosion of inlets.

New York, June 27 (A.P.).—Cornelius McNerney, former general field agent for the Lord's Day Alliance, was convicted today of attempted extortion in the acceptance of money from Charles L. O'Reilly, president of the Theater Owners Chamber of Commerce, to overlook alleged violations of the Sunday theater law. McNerney was remanded to the Tombs pending sentence on Thursday.

Burlington, Vt., June 27 (A.P.).—John Barrett, former United States Ambassador and Minister to Argentina, Panama, Colombia and Siam and director-general of the Pan-American Union, today told a luncheon meeting of the Lions Club here today that he favored repeal of prohibition.

Miami, Fla., June 27 (U.P.).—Wave-tossed for 48 hours off the Florida keys, after their cabin cruiser ran out of gas, J. H. Braley, his wife, Omar Stang and Helen Stang were brought back to Miami today by a fishing smack. Their supply of food was scant and there was an inch of water left in a jug when they were discovered and rescued by the fishing vessel.

Englewood, N. J., June 27 (A.P.).—Miss Eleanor Allen Lamont, daughter of Thomas W. Lamont and Mrs. Lamont, was married at a brilliant society wedding today to Charles Cremore Cunningham, Harvard graduate, of Milton, Mass.

$350,000 appropriated for local unemployment relief was unjustified in view of the record of local relief agencies. Out of $2,200,000 raised by the Community Chest, more than $1,800,000 goes to pay the salaries of 2,682 employes, he declared.

Representatives Joseph W. Byrns (Democrat), Tennessee; Bertrand H. Snell (Republican), New York, and Fiorello H. LaGuardia (Republican), New York, declared the attack unwarranted.

"Representative Holaday's statement that $1,800,000 of the Chest funds goes to pay the salaries of employes is not true and the House conferees know it is not true," he said. "It is misrepresentation of the worst kind."

Representative LaGuardia declared that Mr. Holaday had "distorted the facts." Both he and Representative Snell pointed out that the Chest was not in a position to meet the present emergency unemployment situation the $350,000 is designed to remedy. The Board of Public Welfare would administer the fund, fixed at $600,000 by the Senate, but cut down in conference.

As passed by both Houses, the bill carries a cut of $4,566,266 under current appropriations. Five amendments were made by the House which had previously been agreed to in conference. They provided a $1,278,000 municipal center appropriation and the $350,000 for relief. The Senate later agreed to them without debate.

Missionary Meeting Tonight.

The guest meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, Alexandria, will be held tonight with Mrs. Ida Rose Groover, of Washington, as the guest speaker. Mrs. Joseph A. Hooeft and Mrs. Stephen H. Field will be the singers, and dramatic readings will be by Mrs. Harriet Pollard Dunn and Mrs. Charles E. Blewett.

COMPROMISE ON AID MEASURES SPEEDED

House and Senate Conferees Indicate Progress; Loans Provision Favored.

(Associated Press.)

Indications of a compromise on the $2,300,000,000 unemployment relief bill came from House and Senate conferees yesterday, as Congress speeded action on the big governmental appropriation measures.

With all plans for congressional adjournment hanging on the outcome of their negotiations, representatives of the House and Senate worked in their shirt sleeves all day long toward an agreement on the jobless aid measures passed by the two branches.

They reported that no final decision had been reached, but there was evidence of progress, and some of it toward President Hoover's views.

Garner Urges His Bill.

Speaker Garner threw precedent to the winds by appearing personally before the conferees to urge his bill which the House approved.

Garner urged that the Reconstruction Corporation be given wide authority to make loans when and where needed, as his bill provides. The Senate, opposing the wishes of the administration, limited loans to self-liquidating projects of a public character.

Chairman Norbeck, of the Senate conferees, said there was a disposition to "go along with the President as far as possible," and said he believed Mr. Hoover's desire to have emergency relief funds distributed on the basis of need would be given "every consideration possible."

At his daily press conference, Mr. Garner predicted that the bill, when it goes to the White House, will carry some provision for public works, to which the President has spoken out in vigorous opposition.

$300,000,000 Fund Backed.

The relief conferees generally agreed that the $300,000,000 fund provided in the Senate bill for direct relief loans to States should be accepted.

One compromise proposal which received serious consideration was that $200,000,000 of this should be allocated on the basis of population, as in the Senate bill, and $100,000,000 should be used in the discretion of the Reconstruction Corporation Board where most needed.

The discussion on the powers of the Reconstruction Corporation on other loans tended toward a liberalization of the Senate bill which confined them to self-liquidating construction projects of a public character.

Prince Georges Robbers Get $500.

Week-end robberies in Prince Georges County netted $500, $300 being taken from the safe of the Maryland Drug Co., in Laurel, and $200 from the house of George Rennoe, an Accokeek, Md., farmer.

the door for a hearing but the committee declined it on the ground that no attempt had been made for a hearing by the farm leaders last week.

The farm representatives protested to leaders of the committee as it broke up for the night and efforts were made for a hearing tomorrow.

The farm representatives were L. J. Taber, of the National Grange; Edward A. O'Neal, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and John A. Simpson, of the Farmers Union. They came prepared to demand a plank promising that farmers would get the cost of production for products sold in this country.

They were not going to ask the committee, however, to commit itself either for the controversial equalization fee or export debenture principles of farm relief.

Gilbert M. Hitchcock, chairman of the committee, called a new meeting for tomorrow of the subcommittee to draft the controversial prohibition and farm relief planks.

A meeting of the whole committee for tomorrow night was ordered with a view to getting a report to the convention on Wednesday morning.

The platform committee agreed on an unemployment relief plank tonight calling for loans to States and public construction. It stands by the principles of the Wagner relief bill recently passed by the Senate. The declaration is general in terms, indorsing public construction when in the public interest as a measure of employment aid and relief loans to States when needed.

Despite every effort to confine the new platform within the record-breaking 1,000-word limit, committee members agreed late today that additional wording was probably necessary and this goal would not quite be attained.

Democratic doctrines are sounded in terse, concise paragraphs for most of the two score planks.

On the tariff question, the platform calls for a competitive tariff based on the principle of revenue only and for an international conference on trade agreements. An international monetary conference for the relief of silver is also urged.

PRESIDENT PRAISES HAUSNER ON FLIGHT

Aviator Says Hoover Told Him "Bit of Luck" Needed in Crossing Ocean.

(Associated Press.)

Stanley Felix Hausner, who floated with his plane for more than a week in the Atlantic, told newspapermen after a visit at the White House yesterday that President Hoover had congratulated him upon his escape from death.

"The President said," Hausner reported, "that I looked in remarkably good condition after my experience.

"I told Mr. Hoover I would try another flight as soon as I could obtain another plane of the same type that carried me for 24 hours over the ocean."

Hausner said the President had remarked that a pilot seeking to fly the Atlantic had to have "a bit of luck," in addition to the most minute preparations for such a journey.

Hausner was introduced to the President by Senator Kean (Republican), New Jersey, and by Ambassador Filipowicz, of Poland. Later he was a luncheon guest at the Polish Embassy.

Do you inhale?

..a question generally avoided. Why?

DO you inhale? Why has this question been treated "like a stepchild" in cigarette advertising?

It's a subject vital to you—for you do inhale—we all do—every smoker inhales—every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Do you inhale? A simple question. But silence on the subject—may be full of meaning.

Lucky Strike has dared to raise this question ...because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Lucky Strike's famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

KENSINGTON'S TAX RATE CUT 4 CENTS

Retiring Mayor and Council Make "Parting Gift" to Community.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Kensington's retiring mayor and town council last night presented a town tax rate reduction as a parting gift. The reduction was voted at a meeting in the town hall.

The rate of 57 cents per $100 assessed value was cut to 53 cents. Mayor Frederick W. Brown presided for the last time, as he was not a candidate for reelection. The new mayor, Alfred L. Geiger, and three new councilmen, William P. Amos, Robert J. Eby and Robert L. Lewis, participated in the discussion. They will take office July 1.

Carson W. Pope, leader of the rural Montgomery County group which asked a reduction of taxes, appeared before the Montgomery County commissioners at Rockville yesterday with a second letter asking the commissioners to reconsider the annual levy and reduce the tax rate.

The commissioners showed Mr. Pope the budget and explained each item and reasons why it could not or should not be cut.

Edward Fagan was elected president of the Glen Echo Volunteer Fire Department at its annual meeting in the Community Hall last night. Other officers are as follows: William C. McConnell, vice president; Stanley Bradshaw, secretary; Arnold Irons, treasurer; Dan Etzler, chief.

Through the efforts of the Montgomery County police identification bureau, Samuel L. Hill, colored, 48 years old, was held for the grand jury yesterday in county police court on charges of housebreaking and larceny. Hill is alleged to have broken into the store of Charles E. Hill last Christmas Eve.

Theodore Voliten, of the identification bureau, found fingerprints corresponding with prints of Hill's fingers on file at the Maryland House of Correction, where he served a term for carrying concealed weapons. He also had served eight years in the Maryland Penitentiary for assault with a dangerous weapon.

Emanual Chester Beck, of 6505 Maple avenue, Chevy Chase, Md., yesterday asked the circuit court for permission to adopt Lewis Garrard Starnes, 11 years old, his stepson, and to change his name to Garrard Beck.

Inspection of the county's six roadside tourist camps has been completed by Sanitary Inspector W. Ernest Offutt, who reported to Dr. V. P. Ellicott that all have complied with the requirements of the State Health Department.

Dr. Ellicott said yesterday that motorists passing through strange territory should make sure that the tourist camps they stop at have health department permits. The department requires that the water be tested, kitchens screened and that garbage and sewage be properly disposed of as well as other sanitary features.

Lieut. William V. Saunders, of the Navy, has completed a 5,500-mile flight over the Atlantic Coast from Norfolk, Va., to Florida to check the naval aviation charts of the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts.

He used a naval amphibian observation plane, and was accompanied by Cartographic Engineer B. J. McGuire, a naval hydrographic expert. They began their work June 10, and worked chiefly from Pensacola, keeping in the air on an average of nine hours daily.

The chief object was to locate seaplane anchorage and landing places which are not shown on existing charts.

Mellwood Women's Club Elects.

Mrs. Elmer C. Mayberry, of Upper Marlboro, Md., has been chosen president of the Mellwood Women's Club. Other officers are Mrs. Frank Small, jr., vice president; Mrs. Frank Scrivener, director; Miss Virgie Brown, treasurer; Mrs. H. G. Machen, recording secretary, and Mrs. H. B. Mayhew, corresponding secretary. The club plans to place a memorial marker on the old Mellwood house and to plant a tulip poplar tree on the courthouse grounds.

36 Persons File for Places On Arlington School Board

Electoral Group Receives Applications and Will Announce List Thursday; Woman Is Expected to Be Among Members Selected.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST. Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The Arlington County school electoral board, meeting last night at the courthouse to consider appointment of board members whose terms of office begin Friday July 1 for four years, received the applications of 36 persons, some of whom were women.

While members of the board would not say a woman would not be appointed, they expressed much favor to the many requests for such action.

There is every indication that when the appointments are announced Thursday night the board of three will include a woman.

The board making the appointments consists of Mrs. Grace Donaldson, Dr. Walter G. Monroe, and A. B. Honts.

Those whose names have been presented are Mrs. Edith Sutton, A. J. Webb, L. C. Lloyd, E. E. Naylor, J. A. C. Fought, Mrs. J. H. Walton, Mrs. Ruby G. Simpson, W. W. Livingston, John M. Stewart, Walter O'Hara, J. W. Head, E. M. Shreve, C. T. Merchant, J. W. England, Mrs. Viva Comstock, George M. Yeatman, R. A. Clary, E. K. Klowman, Frank Sherwood, O. G. Schuster, Dr. Frank T. Stone, Mrs. Grace Dagger, Mrs. Calvin Kephart, Mrs. Mabel Lewis, Mrs. Albert Waserman, Mrs. Gertrude Smith, J. Vernon Smith, Frederick Watson, Mrs. Martha Rauh, Mrs. J. H. Criswell, Mrs. N. A. Rees, Mrs. P. M. Chichester, J. W. Clayton, I. C. Buchanan, and W. M. Stone.

Tonight at 8 o'clock, in the parish hall of St. George's Episcopal Church, in Clarendon, the Junior Auxiliary is to present a play entitled "Stunt Nite."

Firemen Flout Council's Rule At Hyattsville

An ordinance giving Hyattsville town council more complete control of the volunteer fire department was adopted last night, but was followed by the firemen's announcement they would ignore it.

The eight councilmen were equally divided on the new law, and the vote of Mayor Lemuel L. Gray was necessary to break the tie. The ordinance provides the chief officers of the department shall be chosen by the council, and that all money received from public sources shall be disbursed by the council.

After a meeting the firemen held after the council adjourned, it was said that the department would continue to operate under its present officers, and it would retain any money paid to it from county funds. Petitions against the new ordinance, bearing the names of more than 150 citizens and business houses, were presented to the council.

Ashton C. Jones Backs Road Act

Says Arlington County Could Withdraw if Displeased.

A rising sentiment in favor of the Byrd Road act among Arlington County residents was given impetus last night by the statement of Ashton C. Jones, former president of the county's Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Jones said that should the act prove not to the tbest interests of the county, the county could withdraw at the next general assembly of Virginia. He also believes that if the county voted itself out of the act now it might not be able to get in later.

He also stressed the possibility of a reduction in taxes amounting to $130,000 under the act. He expressed belief that the Virginia State Highway Commissioner would give the county all it should have in road improvement.

FAIRFAX 4-H CLUBS OPEN GIRLS' CAMP

Outing at Madeira School to Continue This Week; Visitors on Friday.

The annual Fairfax County 4-H Club Camp opened yesterday at the Madeira School for Girls near Great Falls, Va. The camp will continue through Friday with 65 girls, 6 club leaders and 12 instructors.

The instructors are Miss Elizabeth Harrison, of Herndon; Miss Maude Wallace, State agent from Blacksburg, Va.; Miss Penelope Morgan, home demonstration agent, of Loudoun County; Miss Dorothy Sharitz, of Wytheville, Va.; Mrs. Fannie Lou Seamons, Fairfax County health nurse; Miss Dorothy Brown, of Herndon, and Miss Florence Hall, of Washington.

The week's program will include instruction in two main club programs. Mrs. Charles Bladen, Mrs. Mark Turner, Mrs. Mason Hirst and Mrs. Mabel Crandall, local club leaders, will have charge of the handwork classes, where each girl will make a hammered silver bracelet. Mrs. L. I. Dolph will have charge of the dining room and the meals prepared under the supervision of a regular dietitian.

Mrs. Lucy Madeira Wing, head mistress of the Madeira School; Miss Gertrude Warren, of the United States Department of Interior, and Miss Maude Wallace will have charge of the regular evening campfire, where stunts and challenges will be held outdoors. Vesper services each night will be held by the various tribes. Thursday afternoon the older girls will give a party to the rest of the camp.

Friday has been designated as visitors' day, with the program opening at 10:30 in the morning. Miss Wallace will talk on "Live at Home Program for Fairfax County." During the week each club tribe will present a play at the campfire, and Friday morning the best one of the plays will be repeated. A treasure hunt, a picnic lunch and a display of the handiwork made during the week will close the Friday program.

BUS OFFICIAL SEEKS TO ABANDON 2 LINES

Would Replace Service With Another Over Boulevard to Mount Vernon.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU. 907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va. Phone Alexandria 523.

R. L. May, owner and operator of the Alexandria, Barcroft & Washington Rapid Transit Co., has stated that application has been made by his attorney, Gardner L. Boothe, to the State corporation commission for permission to discontinue the bus service between Alexandria and Mount Vernon, over the Richmond highway, and the Alexandria-Fort Hunt line also.

In place of this service, buses will be operated on an hourly schedule over the Mount Vernon boulevard, serving both Fort Hunt and Mount Vernon, this service to be at night, and will not only serve the residents of Fort Hunt, but those living along the line of the boulevard.

This change will abolish a duplication of service on the Richmond highway as far as Gum Spring, which is also on the line of the Fort Humphreys buses.

Final approval of the use of the Mount Vernon memorial boulevard for the bus traffic has not been given, as the roadway has not been officially turned over to the National Park and Planning Commission, but inasmuch as the bulk of the travel to Mount Vernon is tourist, the line can be designated as a sightseeing bus. Sight-seeing buses are now operating over the boulevard, and this service is expected to start within the next ten days.

Irvin Diener, vice president of the Alexandria Kiwanis Club, will head that body tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock at the formal opening of the Alexandria Coca-Cola Bottling Works. This meeting is to take the place of the regular luncheon on Thursday. The recently completed plant will be open to the public tomorrow and Thursday.

Joseph H. Kretchmer, president of the Alexandria Shrine Club, will be in charge of a caravan of its members leaving Alexandria in buses and private automobiles Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, to attend the ceremonial of Acca Temple, Mystic Shrine, in Richmond.

The party will start from Pitt and Cameron streets, and all members intending to make the trip are asked to notify Secretary T. P. Carter.

36th-Floor Leap Ends Honeymoon

Grief-Stricken Husband Seeks to Follow His Bride in Death.

Chicago, June 27 (A.P.).—A bride less than a day, Mrs. Eugenia Sideras plunged to death from the window of a honeymoon suite on the thirty-sixth floor of the Morrison Hotel today. Her husband, Peter, tried to leap after her, but was restrained by another hotel guest who heard the commotion and rushed into the room.

The bride was 23 years old, her husband 31. They had obtained a license to wed on June 23 and were married last night, arriving at the hotel after midnight.

The body of the young woman fell to a fire escape that jutted out on the eighth floor. The grief-stricken husband told the coroner his bride had protested she was "not worthy" of him, and after an all-night talk had torn her engagement and wedding rings from her finger and rushed to the window and jumped.

Hot weather need not cramp your hospitality

When guests come in at tea-time, can you be prodigal about ice for the cooling beverages you offer them? Will there be enough ice for generous encores? And will the ice itself be crystal-clear, crystal-hard, transparent, sparkling? The hostess who takes American Ice (made from four-times filtered water in modern, hygienic plants) can answer each of these questions with a joyful "yes!"

The new American Ice Company ice refrigerators embody an entirely new principle of ice refrigeration. They need icing but once every five or six days. Ask the American Ice route man where these refrigerators can be inspected, or call District 6240.

THE CONVENTION.

Gov. Roosevelt narrowly escaped a disaster in the matter of abrogating the two-thirds rule. Dozens of his supporters refused to follow him in this project, and if he had insisted upon making a fight he would have antagonized most of the South, besides important groups in the East and West. If he had been beaten his nomination would have been made much more uncertain, and if he had won the nomination by majority vote would have been followed by bitter feuds extending into the campaign.

The abandonment of the attempt is held to be evidence of weakness, and so it is, so far as abrogating the two-thirds rule is concerned; but it also mollifies Roosevelt's supporters and perhaps wins over some delegates who were preparing to oppose him. It does not follow that, because Roosevelt can not abrogate the two-thirds rule, he will not ultimately win the nomination.

The opposition to Roosevelt is loud, but not organized. The candidates show no signs of centering upon one of their number as a rival of Roosevelt. The first ballot promises to show a scattering vote for seven or eight favorite sons, with Roosevelt far in the lead. The second ballot may tell the story of the convention. Hopeless candidates can not expect to hold their followers very long, and the lure of the bandwagon is strong.

The keynote speech by Senator Barkley was made ridiculous in advance by the contradiction between his words and his votes. He railed against the "robber tariff," and failed to explain why he had voted for two pieces of "robber tariff" legislation calculated to benefit his own State. This discrepancy will be brought out during the campaign, to the embarrassment of the Democratic nominee and his keynote sponsor.

During Senator Barkley's speech, when he advocated outright repeal of the eighteenth amendment, the demonstration on the floor revealed clearly enough what the party plank will be; and yet the drys are not entirely squelched. The party is about to commit itself and its candidates to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment without offering any substitute for the present system. The plank as already made public does express objection to the return of the liquor saloon, but no method of preventing its return is suggested. Strong opposition to the Democratic plank is likely to develop in various parts of the South.

The contest over selection of permanent chairman will throw further light on Roosevelt's strength. Apparently his managers are determined to elect Senator Walsh of Montana after having tacitly agreed to the election of Jouett Shouse. No one can point out exactly how the Roosevelt cause can be furthered by winning the fight on the permanent chairmanship, but it is easy to perceive that a charge of bad faith might ensue. Chairman Raskob perhaps put a nail in Shouse's coffin when he extolled that gentleman and thereby emphasized the fact that Shouse represents the Raskob-Smith element in the convention. Delegates who would not otherwise be interested in the permanent chairmanship may take pains to show that they are not in the Raskob camp.

TRANSPORTATION HOME.

Just as the morale of the bonus army camped in Washington shows evidence of breaking and the veterans are in a mood to go home, Senator Copeland, Democrat, of New York, comes forth with a resolution calling for $100,000 to make their stay more comfortable. If the Senate gives any heed to this measure, the effect would be to start once more the migration of jobless men toward Washington. Unsanitary conditions and the dangers of epidemic would be multiplied instead of mitigated.

Funds thus provided would be available for food and shelter for transient veterans. In the words of the resolution it could be used "to return them to their homes or to care for them while here temporarily." Under such an arrangement all of the money would be used to feed and clothe the destitute bonus army and to encourage others to come here. None of it would be used for transportation of the men back home, because they would refuse to leave so long as they could find sustenance here. Senator Copeland must realize that his proposition would only magnify the problem that is confronting District officials.

Congress should provide no funds for the besieging veterans, except for their transportation home. Railroads have made attractive offers of low fares for returning bonus marchers. All who remain in Washington could be transported to their homes for a fraction of the sum which Senator Copeland would have the Government spend to keep them here.

It is not too late to set aside a small portion of each State's allotment under the $300,000,000 emergency relief measure to cover the expenses of returning destitute veterans to their homes. Beyond that Congress can not go without aggravating conditions in Washington.

GOUGING FEDERAL WORKERS.

Speaker Garner has announced that he will reappoint the same conferees for reconsideration of the economy bill, even though two of those conferees are in Chicago. The announcement is significant because it means a deadlock over the economy measure. Chairman McDuffie of the House conferees has declared that his group will not yield, even though the Senate should refuse to accept the conference report. As a result the entire economy program is thrown into confusion.

The action of Speaker Garner is not only arbitrary, but highly unreasonable. He upholds the ambiguous and discriminatory compromise by which the previous conferees tried to cover up their irreconcilable differences. When conferees are unable to agree new conferees should be appointed for both the House and the Senate. But Speaker Garner seems to think that the legislative ability of the House is being impugned, and therefore adopts a dogged attitude of fighting to preserve the blunders of the first conferees.

If the economy measure should become law in its present form it would be a lasting reproach to Congress. Some of its provisions are not only discriminatory; they are infamous. One clause, for example, would cut off employes who have completed nearly 15 years of service and are about to reach the compulsory retirement age. They would be treated as if they had been discharged because of unfitness, thus losing their retirement pay.

That provision calling for the dismissal of either husband or wife where both are employed by the Government is another abomination. As Senator Reed has pointed out, its immediate effect would be to break up families. Couples who can't live together and keep their jobs will establish separate abodes. This provision is lacking in common sense as well as justice.

Perhaps the most notorious tangle in the conference report concerns the disposition of money that would be saved from the compulsory furloughs. It is not clear whether this money would automatically go back to the Treasury or be available to preserve jobs that are now threatened because of the drastically reduced appropriations. In other words, employes in many departments may be forced to take two or more 30-day payless furloughs. This would not only be an imposition upon employes, but would bring confusion to the service.

In its present form the economy measure is a mess. The Senate has shown good judgment in refusing to allow it to become law without revision. If the House refuses to correct the rank injustice that is manifested in the report, it must be prepared to shoulder responsibility for killing the economy bill.

SECOND PLACE CANDIDATES.

Who will be the Democratic nominee for Vice President? Contestants for first place on the ticket are so numerous and the fight to stop Gov. Roosevelt has become so intense that little attention has been given to the vice presidential nomination. It is generally assumed that the choice will fall upon one of the favorite sons who are now struggling for first place.

An attempt to close the breach caused by the fight against Gov. Roosevelt through the vice presidential nomination may be expected. If the New York Governor should be defeated, one of his lieutenants would probably fall into the vice presidential nomination with no difficulty at all. But prospects favor the nomination of Gov. Roosevelt for the Presidency, and in that event it would be more difficult to heal the wounds inflicted in the Chicago scrap by tendering second honors to a candidate in the opposition camp.

Gov. Roosevelt's chief opponents are considered, for the most part, ineligible for the vice presidential nomination in case the New Yorker wins first place on the ticket. Of course, Al Smith would not be eligible, being a New Yorker. Speaker Garner doubtless would be inclined to hold on to his present job rather than run for Vice President. It is improbable that James M. Cox or John W. Davis, both former nominees for President, would accept the nomination should it be tendered to either of them. While Newton D. Baker has kept himself in reserve as a dark horse in the race for the presidential nomination, there is no indication that he is interested in the Vice Presidency.

Geography would handicap both Gov. Ritchie, of Maryland, and Gov. Byrd, of Virginia, if Mr. Roosevelt should be chosen to make the race against President Hoover. The Democratic party is too anxious to garner the votes of the disgruntled western States to name a ticket entirely from the Atlantic seaboard.

A long list of candidates from the Middle West and Rocky Mountain region have their hats in the ring, ready to take advantage of this situation. They all are hoping that Gov. Roosevelt will be successful, and that the lightning will then strike in their direction. Included in this group are Gov. Harry H. Woodring, of Kansas; Gov. George H. Dern, of Utah; Senator Wheeler, of Montana; Senator Dill, of Washington, and several others.

Melvin S. Traylor, of Chicago, would doubtless be a formidable candidate if he should actively seek the nomination. But a team composed of Gov. Roosevelt, foe of big business, and the Chicago banker would not be without handicaps. Senator Walsh, of Montana, Roosevelt's choice for permanent chairman of the convention, is also mentioned for the vice presidential nomination, but he declined to be a candidate in 1924.

At present the vice presidential race is a free for all. Chances favor a western candidate, but the whole situation turns upon the selection of the nominee for President.

GAINFUL WORKERS.

The Bureau of the Census has just completed compilation of the occupation statistics for the United States as disclosed by the last census. The grand total indicates that in 1930 there were 48,829,920 persons gainfully occupied in the 48 States and the District of Columbia. This was about 40 per cent of the population, or nearly 50 per cent of those over 10 years of age. The figures show an increase in the number of workers of 7,000,000 in ten years.

The term gainful workers is used to include all persons who usually follow a gainful occupation. It does not include women doing housework in their own homes without wages and having no other employment, nor children doing household work. The grouping in this classification is occupational rather than industrial, all the workers in a specified occupation being grouped together without regard to the different industries in which the occupation is pursued. These general divisions show that 10,472,000, or 21 per cent, were engaged in agriculture; 14,111,000, or 29 per cent, in manufacturing and mechanical industries; 6,000,000 in trade; nearly 5,000,000 in domestic and personal service; 3,843,000 in transportation and communication; 4,000,000 in clerical occupations, 3,254,000 in professional service, and 984,000 in extraction of minerals.

The formal census showing that there were nearly 49,000,000 persons gainfully employed in the United States two years ago supports earlier estimates that were made. If the highest estimates that have been suggested regarding the extent of unemployment today are subtracted from the peak employment of 1930 there still are about 40,000,000 individuals drawing wages and salaries in this country. A 20 per cent reduction in employment is a serious matter, but it should not be overlooked that the United States possesses greater income and purchasing power than any other two nations combined.

NATIONAL READINESS

By the Rev. JOHN E. SHEA, Rector, Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Shawnee, Okla.

The preface to the Constitution of the United States of America is as follows:

"We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

Concerning which George Washington, our first President, stated: "I promise myself to realize, without alloy, the sweet enjoyment of partaking, in the midst of my fellow citizens, the benign influence of good laws under a free government—the ever favorite object of my heart, and the happy reward, as I trust, of our mutual cares, labors and dangers."

From the above one naturally concludes that citizenship in this country is a gracious inheritance or gift and sacred, and that its obligations are all-inclusive, from the National Capital to the humblest home.

The United States is not, never has been, and never will be an aggressor nation; nor will this Government as constituted ever be oppressive of men's rights or another nation's honor. Our educational institutions are free to all and the best. There are no religious tests for citizenship or for office, but it is God's country and the divine and the civil laws have become so coordinated that one can not be a good citizen without being a good Christian, nor a good Christian without being a good citizen.

The burden of bearing arms and being skilled in the use of them is necessary and an obligation: first, for the internal enforcement of the laws; second, for protection against invasion. Just as any man of principle will exert himself to the utmost of his resources to protect his own home, his wife and children from the vicious intruder, so should he consistently render service unto death in defense of the country which confers upon him the benefits of citizenship.

The United States of America is today the richest and most resourceful of the nations. But should the other nations abandon war and destroy their armament, except as needed for internal security, this country would readily surrender her key position as a military power. Our Government has called for that, but its call goes unheeded. We were not prepared, as the other nations were prepared, for the World War, in consequence of which we paid the price, both in men and material—a useless sacrifice—as the compulsory arbitrator in behalf of peace. It is confidently asserted that had this Nation been as fully prepared in trained men and armament as was Germany, there would have been no World War.

Finally, to be an intelligent candidate for citizenship of this country, one should know that the European nations have nothing to fear from the militant power of this country. Europe's peace is more valuable to the United States than Europe's conquest.

The Old Woman in a Shoe.

POST HASTE.

Keynoter Barkley devoted so much time to a general denunciation of the tariff that, naturally, he had no time to explain his own prohibitive tariff votes on coal and oil.

Anyhow, it was worth the price of radio admission to learn that there was still left in this country such a barnstorming, blood and thunder orator as the senator from Kentucky.

Carlos Davila, with the record of still heading Chile's fourth government in three weeks, promises sweeping reforms. Vacuum cleaner dealers are encouraged.

Without even waiting to establish exactly any family connection, it seems that "Gunboat's" decision has been prejudicial to the Smith family at Chicago.

With what mingled emotions Chicago watches the possible shift of authority from the Smith-Raskob-Shouse trio to the Wheeler-Dill-Long triumvirate!

Chairman Raskob urged that abuse of Republicans should not be made the Democratic issue, so Senator Barkley only devoted four-fifths of the keynote speech to that subject.

Gov. Roosevelt called off the fight on the two-thirds rule; whether to demonstrate strength or avoid defeat remains to be seen.

Early agreement at Chicago may be thwarted by the air-cooled auditorium—another evil to be charged to a mechanized age.

You have seen a circus performer riding three horses, straddling, but never touching the middle one. The middle horse in Senator Barkley's performance yesterday was his personal hobby—prohibitive duties for home-State products.

If Senator Copeland is going to set a precedent by having Congress make an appropriation to entertain and provide transportation for bonus lobbyists, he might as well multiply the amount ten times over to begin with.

THE CRACK OF DOOM.

The gloomy prophets everywhere have had, and are still having, a big inning, declares the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, but it is not the first time they were persuaded that events were ringing civilization's knell. A writer in the London Fortnightly finds aid and comfort, which he passes generously on to his countrymen, by consulting the pronouncements of the illustrious in former crises. He discovers that, in 1800, William Pitt observed: "There is scarcely anything around us but ruin and despair." Almost half a century later, 1849, to be exact, he hears Disraeli murmur: "Industry, commerce and agriculture—there is no hope." And in 1851 the Duke of Wellington paused to "Thank God, I shall be spared the consummation of ruin that is gathering about us." Finally, in 1868, Lord Shaftesbury ended it all with: "Nothing can save the British Empire from shipwreck." Moral: Always copper Comrade Doleful's bet.

The First Step in Rebuilding Is to Quit Waiting for Santa Claus to Do It.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MANY readers will call this pessimism, which is the common name for unpleasant truth.

Call it what you will, it is something America should know.

All enterprise marks time because of uncertainty.

And uncertainty is the result of hoping for the best instead of facing facts.

Consider the bonus matter. You say that organized veterans rule Congress; that one-fourth of the national revenue is given to 1 per cent of the population; that veterans now take every dollar of the income tax paid by all of us; that disability pensions are given to tens of thousands who received no hurt in the war; that men who never left America receive higher pensions than men wounded in the trenches.

That is true. But your complaints will not mend matters.

The same kind of pension graft flourished after the Civil War, despite popular outcry, and continued so long as the veterans had power to make or break politicians.

History will repeat itself. Human nature hasn't changed; congressmen still fear organized minorities; still value their jobs more than the Nation's welfare.

Consider the tariff. You say it ruins the farmers by increasing the price of everything they must buy and denying them a foreign market for their surplus; that it caused other nations to erect tariff walls to keep out American goods; that these in turn cause hundreds of American manufacturers to build branch factories abroad and thus deprive more and more Americans of their jobs.

That is true. But you can not change the system. Money power will continue to dominate the Government and thus preserve its advantages; and when prosperity returns, as it must in a land as rich as this, the people will forget their grievance.

Consider commodity prices. You say they are too low; that the dollar must be inflated before conditions can be normal.

But prices are normal. The records prove it. Commodity prices today are above the average level maintained from 1860 to 1931—except during the two periods of war inflation.

Why "kid" ourselves?

Prohibition will continue because rural States, unharmed by booze-financed crime, have power to block repeal.

The war debts won't be paid because no government that agrees to pay them can survive.

Face facts and you can begin to get somewhere. But you can't adjust yourself to a bad situation by howling for a miracle to change facts.

Industry and Labor.

If the Democrats win the fall elections what good reason has Vox Populi to expect that they can manage national affairs any more economically and constructively than they are being directed by the present administration? What assurance can the Democrats give the voter that they will be able to corral, throw and hog-tie this depression and promote an early return of general prosperity? Remember these hard times, this era of unemployment and demoralizing prices for all commodities, are world-wide; no country has escaped. Herbert Hoover is no more responsible for the financial distress of the country than some Zulu in far-off Africa or bushman in Australia.

Partisan Fireworks.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

After they have gone home to their constituencies the gentlemen of the Congress can indulge in partisan recrimination and demagoguery to their hearts' content. We are prepared for it, as a part of the show every four years.

Kansas City Star."

While liquor inevitably will continue to provoke discussion, it will be, to the extent it demands attention, largely a distraction. As a partisan, political or popular issue, it is mainly a delusion and a trouble-maker. In liquor the country's hopes can not be centered, nor through it is the road to relief and a return to more happy conditions. Whatever can be done to hold this question to its rightful place in the affairs of a troubled nation will be a genuine service to the people of America.

New Honors for Women.

Kansas City Times.

An official of the National Woman's party is frankly disappointed with the Republican platform. It mentions the "rights of Puerto Ricans, Hawaiians, Alaskans, the Negro race, the Indians, the veterans, and so on," she complains, but shows no concern about women, "despite the fact that women's status is inferior to that of any of the other groups." Well, the women should congratulate themselves. It might have been an oversight on the part of the Republicans, but the chances are that the platform framers really felt the women were doing pretty well as matters stand, or that they were capable of looking after whatever rights they might desire. As the platform mentions practically everybody else, and as everybody knows what that means, the women are honored by the omission.

Plank Only a Plank.

Boston Transcript.

While the liquor plank of any party may properly be subject to criticism by both wets and drys, it is only reasonable to remember that national conventions do not write constitutional amendments. These are prepared by Congress, and once the Democratic convention is over it will be the task of the voters to support such candidates for Senate and House as will propose the kind of an amendment they want. The issue is so indubitably injected into the campaign this year that no candidate for either branch can afford to pussyfoot on it, nor will the voters permit any candidate to remain silent on the issue. The fight will shortly be transferred to the stump and the election booths, where it belongs.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Increase of Gold Production in the United States Noted by Mr. Roberts.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The future supply of gold for the United States seems to be very promising, according to a statement issued by the Geological Survey. At present there is a steady increase in the production of gold because the lowering costs make it possible to use better machinery, and the methods of mining the ore improve in proportion with the improvement of the machinery.

The Geological Survey and the Bureau of Mines estimate the minimum production of gold in the entire United States and its possessions at 34,760,000 ounces by 1950 and the maximum production at 103,050,000 ounces. The minimum value of this gold would be worth more than $700,000,000, while it would be in excess of $2,200,000,000 at the maximum production.

There is a gold deposit in the Alleghany District of California that is said to have a recoverable gold content estimated at $56,000,000. At present the mining in this district is handicapped by a covering of lava over a portion of the region. The lava is several hundred feet thick, but with the aid of modern machinery it should be rather simple to tunnel under the lava and thus follow the veins of the gold deposit.

Nature has stored away in the bowels of the earth quantities of the golden metal, and as long as man remains on the earth he will find means of obtaining it.

I. C. ROBERTS.

Daniel Webster's Description of Demagogues Holds Good Today.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: This extract is from a speech in the United States Senate by Daniel Webster, in 1833.

"There are persons who constantly clamor. They complain of oppression, speculation and pernicious influence of accumulated wealth. They cry out loudly against all banks and corporations, and all means by which small capitalists become united in order to produce important and beneficial results. They carry on mad hostility against all established institutions. They would choke the fountain of industry and dry all streams. In a country of unbounded liberty, they clamor against oppression. In a country of perfect equality, they would move Heaven and Earth against privilege and monopoly. In a country where property is more evenly divided than anywhere else, they rend the air, shouting agrarian doctrines. In a country where wages of labor are high beyond parallel, they would teach the laborer that he is but an oppressed slave."

How about "Hooey" Long?

Let New York State Be the Proving Ground of a New Liquor System.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The repealers are seeking a method of disposing of the eighteenth amendment and one seems to have appeared. It is offered in good faith by Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, of Beverly, Mass., one of the most militant drys in the Nation. Before repealing the Federal law, since New York State has withdrawn from the States willing to hold the amendment, she suggests that New York be the laboratory where a thorough research work may be carried forward, giving the State a free hand to deal with the whole question, as a State, after which the other 47 States could follow its lead, if successful. That is a fair proposition and the country would look on with deepest interest and abundant hope for its success.

Law Society Statistics Show Necessity of Preparedness.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Statistics compiled by the Society of International Law reveal that history has known only 268 years of peace as against 3,153 years of war. The society, computing history to extend back 3,421 years, estimates that 8,000 peace treaties have been concluded, lasting on an average two years each. This answers the question: Why preparedness?

AT THE SCHOOL EXERCISES.

And the tired old faces glisten with the glory of a smile,
The cares are all forgotten and their hearts with rapture beat
As the little sons and daughters dance about on nimble feet.

On the day of graduation weary eyes aglow with pride,
Every sign of disappointment bravely seem to put aside.
One would never guess to see them all the labor of the weeks
To teach that boy the verses which he now so proudly speaks.
In that hour of young achievement triumph hides each fault and scar,
And the fathers and the mothers of their cares forgetful are.

It may be we shall discover when life's last long shadows fall
We shall go as little children to the Father of us all,
And in spite of every folly and the sins to which we've turned
He shall smile upon us proudly for the lessons we have learned.
By some little deed accomplished we may please Him at the last,
And repay the loving Father for our failure of the past.

DYNASTY MOVEMENT PUSHED IN GERMANY

Former Kaiser Is Reported Conferring on Prospects; Reds Attacked Again.

Berlin, June 27 (U.P.).—A sudden intensification of political activity on the part of German monarchists and renewed Fascist demands for peremptory suppression of the Communist party further complicated internal troubles tonight after a week-end of sporadic violences in many cities.

Following reports that the exiled Kaiser Wilhelm had conferred with the former crown prince and German bankers in Holland, a movement in favor of restoring the Wittelsbach dynasty attracted wide attention at Wuerzburg.

Former Crown Prince Rupprecht, now journeying in Franconia, touched on the recent political strife over whether Fascist brown shirt uniforms should be legalized when he addressed a patriotic society, which gave him an ovation.

"Bavaria must oppose the efforts to centralize the Reich according to the western, notably the French methods," he said in reference to the opposition of Bavaria and other southern states to the Reich's demand that the brown shirts be permitted to demonstrate.

"We want to be good Germans, but also to remain good Bavarians. Bismarck's empire was composed of allied states, and therein rested its strength."

Munich, Germany, June 27 (A.P.).—Joseph Goebbels, Adolf Hitler's chief lieutenant, told a conference of Nazi district commanders from all parts of the Reich today that the party had not called the Von Papen government into being and would judge it solely according to its deeds.

Halt Urged on Neglect Of Religion in Schools

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 27 (A.P.).—Catholic educators, here at the annual convention of the National Catholic Education Association today began formulating policies to minimize the "tragic error" of "religious neutrality" in America's public school system.

The Rev. Dr. George Johnson, of Washington, national secretary, in his opening address, declared: "Religion having been banished from the schools was gradually banished from life, until today we have millions of children in the United States without any consciousness of God and their relation to Him."

Six Small Midwestern Banks Forced to Close

Chicago, June 27 (U.P.).—Six Middle Western banks in three States, four of them in agricultural communities, closed today. The largest city involved was East Chicago, Ind. The East Chicago State Bank closed. It had deposits of $680,000.

Other closings and their deposits were: First National, Martinsville, Ind., $1,222,000; First National, Sullivan, Ind., $1,600,000; First National, Thompson, Iowa, $350,000; First National, Maquoketa, Iowa, $1,115,000; First National, Gardner, Ill., $238,000.

Egypt Gold Freed by Britain.

Plymouth, England, June 27 (A.P.).—The Italian salvage vessel Artiglio II today was permitted to unload gold bullion recovered from the hull of the wrecked liner Egypt last week. An order from the admiralty marshal released the metal from seals in the Artiglio's hold, and it was placed in boxes pending "certain legal formalities."

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

FISH STORY.

THE fact: "Lef" Whipple, a fishing guide, goes out to try his luck. He catches nothing, but sees a small fish of some type break water nearby.

The Development.

1. "Lef" Whipple, upon rowing ashore, is asked by "Deke" Gilley, from whom he rented the boat, if he had any luck.

"I hooked something pretty big out there, but it got off just as I got it near the boat. Must've weighed four pounds."

* * * *

2. "Deke" goes to town and drops in at the local fishermen's tackle and supply store run by Cap Wilson and there is the following conversation:

"Anything doing down the bay, Deke?"

"'Lef' Whipple caught a 9 pound weakfish yesterday. One of the biggest I ever saw."

"How many did he get altogether?"

* * * *

3. A visiting angler drops in at Cap Wilson's fishermen's supply store to inquire about fishing prospects. He asks if anything is running.

"They're having great sport down the bay," says Cap. "'Lef' Whipple was out only an hour yesterday and landed 32 of the finest sea bass I ever saw. The smallest one weighed 14 pounds."

* * * *

4. The visiting angler buys some new tackle and goes over to the nearby fish-market for some bait.

"Goin' fishin'?" asks the proprietor.

"Yep," says the angler.

"They're runnin' great," says the bait man (who has run into "Deke" Gilley on the street). "'Lef' Whipple got a boatload of sea porgies, some of 'em running as big as 22 pounds!"

* * * *

5. The angler goes to the phone and asks a friend if he wants to go fishing with him.

"Anything doing?" asked the friend.

"Anything doing!" exclaims the angler. "There's the biggest run of fish down here in years. A feller caught some yesterday weighing 30 pounds each."

"What kind?"

"Giant blues and channel bass."

* * * *

6. The angler and his friend go down to the bay and rent a boat from "Deke" Gilley. They casually inquire if the fishing is good.

"They're hoppin' outa water," declares "Deke" with a straight face. "'Lef' Whipple just got in with over 100."

"What were they?"

"Sailfish and tarpon!"

* * * *

THE fishermen decide to hire "Lef" Whipple as a guide. "I hear you've been gettin' 'em," says one of them when "Lef" appears.

"You bet," says "Lef."

"What'd we better rig for?" ask the fishermen.

* * * *

A Nice Quiet Place.

It develops that the late "Vannie" Higgins, notorious racketeer, flew by plane to a New York State prison, where he and two pals were the house guests of the warden. Possibly the boys were considering taking it over as a bottling plant.

* * * *

In New York fights are being decided, evidently, after the fashion of international yacht races, and Schmeling had to give Sharkey an allowance of eight rounds or 24 minutes.

* * * *

And Without Adequate Trump Support.

Putting Brains in Storage.

No one can note those long lists of boys graduating from college this summer without feeling that Congress should appropriate a few billions to send them back for the duration of the depression.

Nonrigid Airship Called Unfit for Use in War

Akron, Ohio, June 27 (A.P.).—The feasibility of the nonrigid and semirigid types of airship in warfare was belittled by Maj. William E. Kepner, representing the United States Army at a meeting today of scientists and engineers at the newly dedicated Guggenheim Airship Foundation.

Maj. Kepner said the only place for the nonrigid ship—as compared with the rigid type such as the U. S. S. Akron—was "in scouting on coastal areas not likely to be attacked." He advised abandonment of the semirigid type.

$290,000 Gem Theft Admitted.

New York, June 27 (A.P.).—Joseph Indelicato, 22, today pleaded guilty to participation in the robbery of the apartment of Harry C. Glemby, wealthy hair goods manufacturer. He was one of three men who forced their way into the East Sixty-seventh street apartment and stole jewelry valued at $290,000. Of this, $230,000 worth has been recovered.

3 From Capital Hurt In Annapolis Crashes

Annapolis, Md., June 27.—Three Washingtonians were among the injured in a series of automobile accidents on State highways over the week-end. Gilbert D. Lewis, Washington policeman, was slightly hurt when his car collided with another machine on the Defense highway, near Pigeon House Inn, left the road and rolled down a hill. Lewis was able to resume his trip to Washington in another machine. A car being driven by Patrick Drecko, and containing his wife and son, also of Washington, bound for Annapolis, sideswiped Lewis' car.

Seymour Goodheart and Russell Stevenson were treated at Emergency Hospital here after a machine in which they were riding ran off the Davidsonville road and turned over. Goodheart suffered a dislocated shoulder and Stevenson was treated for lacerations. John Milewski, driver of the car, escaped injury. A. L. Livsie, Washington taxicab driver, brought the injured to the hospital.

Propeller Kills Endurance Flier

John Hunter, One of Four Brothers, Is Dead in Rosedale, Miss.

Rosedale, Miss., June 27 (A.P.).—John Hunter, one of four brothers who achieved fame at Chicago two years ago by setting a world airplane endurance record, was killed here today by the propeller of his ship. He and two of his brothers, Walter and Kenneth, were en route to New Orleans with three amphibian planes with which John and Kenneth intended to use on the air mail route between New Orleans and Pilot Town, at the mouth of the Mississippi River.

The planes were forced down here late today and John climbed out on the wing of his plane to untie it from the dock and the whirling propeller struck him on the head.

Arthur Johnsor of New Orleans, who accompanied the brothers from Detroit, where the planes were delivered to them, flew on to New Orleans to fulfil the mail contract.

John, Walter, Kenneth and another brother, Albert, established the record of 553 hours 41 minutes an' 30 seconds in their plane, the City of Chicago, in 1930.

Pinchot Messages Urges Speedy Jobless Relief

Harrisburg, Pa., June 27 (A.P.).—With a solemn warning against delay, Gov. Gifford Pinchot in his message at the opening of the special session of the Pennsylvania Legislature tonight called for direct relief for the 1,150,000 persons he estimates are out of work in the State.

He said a minimum of $40,000 will be required to take care of them during the next eight months and that although he is a "hearty believer" in work relief, it would cost the State $200,000,000 annually to provide it while "direct relief of a sort" can be supplied for $60,000,000 a year.

FOREIGN NEWS IN BRIEF

Hankow, China, June 27 (A.P.).—Swollen by continued heavy rains, the Yangtse River rose 2 feet today and was 38½ feet above normal, almost at the same level as at this time last year just before disastrous floods which did uncounted damage to property and human life. Already vast areas of the Yangtse Valley are flooded and thousands of persons are homeless. It was feared that if the rains continued, last summer's floods might be repeated.

Dublin, June 27 (A.P.).—One man was killed and twenty more were injured today when a bus carrying a number of pilgrims home from the Eucharistic Congress crashed through a bridge into the Liffey River at the town of Lucan, near here.

Dessau, Germany, June 27 (A.P.).—A group of young hoodlums entered the cemetery here Saturday night and demolished some 60 headstones, it was learned today. Forty of the destroyed stones were in the form of the cross.

Bucharest, Roumania, June 27 (A.P.).—Eighteen persons, including several women and children, were drowned today when a heavy cloudburst swelled the rivers in the provinces of Bukowina and Holdavia, washed away a number of houses and tore out railway lines.

Stock Forger Goes to Sing Sing.

New York, June 27 (A.P.).—A sentence of three and a half to ten years in Sing Sing Prison today was imposed on Thomas F. Curran, 41, former comptroller of the Worcester Salt Co. Curran pleaded guilty to forgery in the second degree in connection with the theft of $493,000 which he obtained by forging stock certificates of the company and obtaining loans on the certificates.

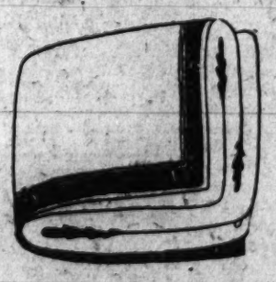
Oil Lamps Are Out-of-Date



—and equally out-of-date are the old-fashioned methods of cleaning your blankets. Our modern process gives each blanket—

Individual Care in Cleaning

Not so long ago, cleaning your blankets meant "rough drying" them—meant matted, harsh woollens—meant a disappointing, discouraging experience.

But our modern, up-to-the-minute process has changed all this. It gives each blanket individual attention.

—Only two blankets are cleaned at one time.
—Each blanket is carded, restoring its natural fluffiness (and many experts say a fluffy blanket is warmest, as its woolly surface tends to retain warmth).

Before you put your blankets away, phone us (DIstrict 5300) to call for them—or, you may bring them yourself to our Receiving Desk, Aisle 17, First Floor. These modest rates for cleaning your blankets—

Single Blankets, 75c Double Blankets, $1.25 Crib Blankets, 50c

MRS. YOST RENAMED AS WOMAN G.O.P. AID

R. H. Lucas Made Sanders' Assistant; Speaking to Start in August.

(Associated Press.)

Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican national committee, yesterday reappointed Mrs. Ellis A. Yost, of Huntington, W. Va., as director of the women's division of the national committee.

At the same time Sanders announced that Robert H. Lucas, who has been executive director of the committee, would become assistant to the chairman.

Both Mrs. Yost and Lucas will work from the national headquarters Sanders intends to establish after July 4 at Chicago.

Mrs. Yost has been director of the women's division for the last two years. Lucas has been executive director since the latter part of 1930.

Sanders reiterated the policy of the committee that the campaign would be conducted in such a way "as to relieve the President as far as possible of politics."

He was unable to say when the notification would be made, but predicted that the Republican speaking campaign would not begin before the middle of August or the first of September.

Hoover's Sympathy Sent Father Duffy's Sister

(Associated Press.)

A message of sympathy was sent yesterday by President Hoover to Mrs. Michael Bird, of New York, sister of the late Father Francis Patrick Duffy, who died Sunday. The message said: "I am deeply grieved to learn of the death of your brother the universally beloved Father Francis P. Duffy. I had the pleasure of his acquaintance. I share the admiration he inspired in all who knew him by his joyous humanity and his unlimited interest in and devotion to the happiness and well-being of others. He will be sorely missed."

Old-Age Pensions Group Organized

Will Advocate Relief for Aged Not Employed by Government.

A committee to form a permanent organization to work for old-age pensions for persons residing in the District of Columbia for at least ten years and not employed by the Federal Government, was formed last night at a meeting held at 734 Jackson place northwest.

The following officers were elected: Chairman, Leifur Magusson; vice chairmen, Frederic Delano, George J. Cleary, John B. Colpoys, Rabbi Abram Simon, Dr. John O'Grady and Mrs. Whitman Gross; secretary, Mrs. Richard Hogue. The following were elected chairmen of committees: James Duhamel, legislation; Dr. Isidor Lubin, research; Mrs. A. B. Trowbridge, publicity, and Mrs. George Ricker, membership.

A resolution was adopted to send letters of appreciation to Senator Arthur Capper and Representative Mary T. Norton for their activity in Congress for old-age pension for the District, and also to Senator Clarence C. Dill and Representative William P. Connery, jr., for advocating old-age pensions for Federal employes.

Fireworks Restrictions In Alexandria Revealed

Police Capt. John S. Arnold, of Alexandria, has given notice that fireworks will be sold on July 2 and 4 only, and the use of them will be allowed on the Fourth only.

Persons will not be permitted to discharge fireworks on King or Washington streets or on Duke street between Columbus and Washington streets, the Alexandria Hospital block.

Yorktown Celebration Had $20,000 Surplus

Richmond, Va., June 27 (A.P.).—A complete financial statement of the Yorktown Sesquicentennial Association will be made before members of the organization in a meeting here Thursday night.

An auditor's report was expected to show that there is a balance of approximately $20,000 left over from the more than $100,000 contributed by the public to the gigantic celebration held last October. At the same meeting discussions on the subject of what is to be done with the money are to be held.

Grotto Drill Units Parade in Buffalo

Buffalo, N. Y., June 27 (A.P.).—Buffalo saw one parade after another today as the gaily uniformed bands and drill units of a hundred grottoes in the United States and Canada marched into the city for the forty-third annual convention of the Supreme Council, Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm.

Others, more soberly garbed, but all wearing the fez of their grotto, mingled with the crowds on the streets, and it was estimated this afternoon that fully half of the expected 10,000 delegates had registered at various hotels. The grand monarch's banquet and ball tonight were the opening events on the formal program.

Tomorrow's events will include a session of the supreme council in the morning, a parade of uniformed units and bands in the afternoon, and an international choral club contest in the evening.

Bride Urges Retention Of Curb Gasoline Stands

Corporation Counsel William W. Bride yesterday recommended to the District Commissioners that the recently adopted regulation prohibiting the sale of gasoline on the streets be amended to permit existing curb service of stationary station to continue but to bar the issuance of any further licenses to such business.

Some 600 of these curb service stands will be abolished unless the amendment is adopted. The commissioners have ordered the police department to enforce the regulation, primarily aimed at street hucksters, beginning July 1.

$40,000 to Send Group To London Parley Asked

(Associated Press.)

An appropriation of $40,000 recommended by President Hoover to send a United States delegation to an international economic conference in London this summer was asked yesterday in a measure introduced by Senator Oddie (Republican), Nevada.

Oddie's proposal came in an amendment he offered to the second deficiency bill. He explained the conference would take up world monetary questions, including silver.

A WINNING SACRIFICE.

OVERBIDDING in Contract pays. It is unwise to permit opponents to make their games unhampered by nuisance bidding and undismayed by the taking of paying penalities by the players holding apparently the poorest hands.

This point was vividly illustrated in a hand played recently at Duplicate at the Wissahickon Club in Philadelphia. The hand was:

East—Dealer.

The Bidding:

South	West	North	East
			1♠
Pass	4♣	5♣	Pass
Pass	Dbl.	Pass	Pass
Pass

North's bid of five clubs was perhaps unduly optimistic. The safe rule is to count upon your partner, who either has not bid or who has passed, for a maximum of two tricks, if vulnerable, and thus to determine the safe limits of pehalties which may be lightly accepted. North was making a heavier draft than this, however, upon his partner's holdings, when, over a game contract by his opponents, he contracted for game in clubs. The inevitable Double, of course, followed, and when the Dummy went down, North saw that the penalty he had expected to take would be slight, indeed. By utilizing Dummy's trumps as entries to establish the diamonds, he held the loss to 1 trick.

His bidding had been over-enthusiastic. It was only redeemed from disaster by flawless play.

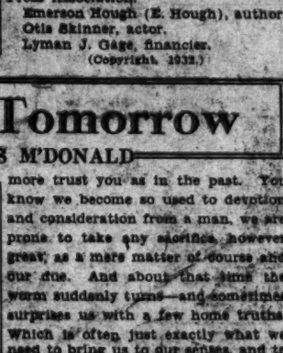
TODAY'S POINTER.

Overbidding, in order to prevent opponents from making a game or a valuable part-score, is an essential feature of correct Contract. The penalty accepted by undertaking an impossible contract, however, should never exceed the value of the possible score made by opponents.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
East and West vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

What Today Means

"CANCER."

IF June 28 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:30 a. m. to 12:45 p.m., from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m. and from 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 6:30 to 8 a. m. and from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m.

Astrological tendencies for June 28: Good for travel and study; poor for business turn-overs, new business ventures and real estate deals. Money-eyed people are advised to turn a deaf ear to all apparently promising investments which seem secure at this time. Minor accidents in the sporting field.

The child born on this June 28 will be well-balanced, level-headed, and out to get its money's worth. It will have refined manners and ingratiating ways, and will always surround itself with loyal friends. It will be proud and ambitious, and will not hitch its wagon to a minor star.

Born on June 28, you have too versatile a nature to be concentrative. Digging is not in your line; those things which your bright and alert mind can not pick up by your skimming methods are left behind. All your life you will be gnawed by the worm of discontent, and will be tempted to try fresh fields anew, although the ones left behind may still be rich and fertile. Many good things pass out of your life, their merits unrecognized until it is too late.

Your natural spontaneity is one of your chief charms—there is no ruled and measured restraint in your make-up. Your heart is full to the brim with charity and human kindness, and you, if anything, do too much for other people, especially those who take all and give nothing. It is a pleasure for you to be helpful and thoughtful, and you do not do things with an eye for returns. You are quick to join others in having a good time, and you can keep the conversational ball a-rolling.

If you be a man, you will always remain a "big boy" in many respects, and will take responsibility lightly until of a very mature age. Your material success in life will depend a great deal upon your choice of friends and whether or not you get the right mate, for one of your temperament.

Successful people born on June 28:

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Love's Regrets.

DEAR Frances McDonald: I am a daily reader of your column and like many others, have found your advice helpful.

My friend and I have had a little misunderstanding about a few personal matters.

He contends that I assumed an indifferent attitude, and seemingly a lack of cooperation in several propositions in which both of us were interested, and that I "tried to put something over on him." The last is not true, but he fails to understand this.

I realize now that I did not appreciate the sacrifices and strenuous efforts he made to insure my comfort, because I thought he was at fault.

I have hurt him by my actions. He has proved to be a true friend and I am very much ashamed of my ungratefulness. Isn't there something I can do to restore his confidence in me?

No one has ever meant more, and now I think all is over. He means everything to me.

We are still friends, but are not on the same footing as before.

I will look for my answer in your column when time and space permit.

JEANNE.

Tell him exactly what you have told us! Men are accustomed to frankness, so he will see in such procedure only the proper spirit and may once more trust you as in the past. You know we become so used to devotion and consideration from a man, we are prone to take any sacrifice, however great, as a mere matter of course and our due. And about that time the worm suddenly turns—and sometimes surprises us with a few home truths. Which is often just exactly what we need to bring us to our senses, and to a proper appreciation of the long suffering worm!

Men are often to blame for woman's seeming ingratitude, because in their pride they fail to admit the effort required to keep things going, and woman, sensing none of the strain under which the man is laboring, assumes that everything is lovely when in truth the man is at the breaking point. The number of women at present writing this column complaining of silent, or irritable, or unsociable husbands is evidence enough that few women comprehend the ordeals through which men pass—without much help!

Evidently you failed this man. Tell him so. And start a new slate.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Unusual evening gown of gold lah-may in the new toasted shade, with starched black chiffon peplum and side decolletage. Cape of black velvet with puffed sleeves of the lame. (A Dah-ray design.)

NEW YORK, June 27.—Have you any idea what goes into being a designer? Oh, it's fun to look behind the scenes sometimes!

For we are so inclined to think that any one can be a designer of clothes who has taste, and perhaps a certain chic and flare. Admitting at the same time, that an architect has to study for years, or even a designer of houses or interiors, we still think that a designer of clothes for God's loveliest creation, woman—has only a scatter ideas out on paper!

Ah, the hours I spent with thee—dear art! A designer must know how to draw, be as good an artist as an artist who is making a living at being that alone; a designer has to have a natural color sense, like an ear for music—and this color sense has to be developed as carefully, as painstakingly, as a musician has to be developed from ear and fingers to musician; a designer must know the sociology of the whole world—and the sociological trends, even future ones; a designer must know all about fabrics—how they are woven, of what, and the resistance to light, heat, warmth, etc. of each fabric * * * shall I go on, or are you enlightened all you can bear?

For there is more, much more * * * yes, honestly. You see, this glimpse behind the scenes of the designing world has a point; the point is that I have spent days, absolutely days, on the design I sketched for you today—just trying to figure out something! Not being a designer, really, but a fashionist, which is quite something else again, I would be the very person to realize what it means to be a real designer. And be able to tell you a little about it.

Don't you find things int'resting? I do!

Oh, I forgot to tell you about the design! Well, it's to be called "Moon Night." You will never figure that out unless I explain * * * that here at Dawn Mirage the hills and rocks, rimmed around as they are with more and more mountains which seem to endlessly cup the valley, throw a special light onto the moon! Yes, they do, too—they make a moon seem old gold and harvesty, even in the spring. And then the bars of moonlight creep like liquid, golden lava, weaving slowly in and out of the rocks—outlining their forms, touching them to mystery, framing them as though each rock were a masterpiece hung in the Louvre. God's picture gallery, and His masterpieces, older and with souls far more profound than man's * * *.

"Moon Night!" Oh, yes, the design—"toast color" lah-may, the skirt and the bodice cut low on the sides and falling into a peplum of black starched chiffon. The jacket of black velvet, with odd puffed short sleeves of the lah-may—and a collar of moon-bars—'scuse me, I mean embroidered lah-may like the edging of the bodice of the dress.

* * * *

Moon nights or any other nights can be hot these funny summers—can't they? And elegant women are inclined to think cotton nightgowns are very chic, much newer, too, then pyjamas or silken nightwear. So if you would like directions for making some of these cotton nightgowns, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet, which tells you how to go about everything pertaining to nightgown making. You can make 'em in silk if you prefer.

Au revoir!

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me whether the inclosed leaves are from weeds.

MRS. A. A. M.

Yes, they are the leaves of weeds.

Please tell me what to do for worms which I find in the stems of gaillardias, coreopsis and gypsophalia. Please also tell me what kind of soil is right for Oriental poppies.

L. W. B.

Your plants are being attacked by borders. A close examination of the stems of your plants will disclose a small round hole in the stem of the affected plant. This is the entrance to the burrow of the borer. If you split the stem lengthwise you will find the culprit, a slender, striped caterpillar, which when full grown is an inch long. The parent moths emerge in late summer and leave a pupal case in the burrows. There is no effective way of poisoning this caterpillar, as it is an internal feeder. The best remedy is clean cultivation and the burning of all stems, roots and plant remains which are likely to harbor overwintering eggs. The growth on large weeds, especially the giant ragweed, should be prevented or they should be cut before the caterpillars contained within them can escape and migrate to garden plants. Splitting the stems and killing the worms is all I can suggest at this time.

Oriental poppies will grow in any open, sunshiny position in a good deep loamy soil.

I have some lovely cyclamen which have bloomed beautifully for six months. Now they are entering a rest period. What shall I do for them?

MRS. G. L. R. T.

Gradually cease to water your cyclamen, and when dry set the pot aside until early September, when the plant will be ready to start into growth. At this time remove the dead tops and begin to water the plant. We have prepared a circular on the culture of the cyclamen which we will be glad to send you if you will write again and inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Please tell me how to care for a rex begonia. MRS. Z. A. F.

The rex begonia requires, if possible, an eastern exposure and a rich soil. Water the plant whenever the surface soil in the pot seems dry. Too much or too little water will cause the leaves to fall. As a rule, you have to experiment with each plant of this variety to see how much water it will tolerate. In summer keep the pot on the porch.

My cold frame, where I have some seedlings, is being overrun with snails. What do you suggest?

MARJORY G. S.

Place small heaps of dried bran at frequent intervals around the inside of the frame. The snails will eagerly make for the bran. The flakes will adhere to their slimy bodies and they will be unable to extricate themselves. Of course, you will have to go over the frame each day and collect and destroy the crawlers.

Please tell me what to use to spray delphiniums or hollyhocks.

CHARLES D. P.

PICNIC MENUS AND RECIPES.

PICNICS will probably be the order of the coming week-end, and if our choice of location is where the breakers wash against a sandy beach, then, in addition to our picnic basket, we shall want to find room for our bathing paraphernalia. Or, if the country is our destination, there will be some part of the outing which will find us resting blissfully under huge oaks or maples, and we would suggest that a blanket be tucked away that we may snugly bundle ourselves into it.

But wherever we go, food makes our picnic, and the scope of the basket is unlimited.

Today and tomorrow we shall give our column space over to picnic menus, leaving to your own devices plans for the usual evening meal.

Today we shall plan a cold picnic, and tomorrow it shall be one cooked in the open.

NANCY CAREY,
THE WASHINGTON POST.

Inexpensive Chocolate Cake.

1 cupful brown sugar
1 tablespoonful butter
½ cupful cocoa
1 cupful sour milk or buttermilk
2 cupfuls flour
½ teaspoonful baking powder
½ teaspoonful salt
1 teaspoonful vanilla
½ teaspoonful baking soda mixed with ¼ cupful boiling water

Mix brown sugar and cocoa. Add sour milk, vanilla and butter, melted. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add to first mixture. Stir in the soda and water and pour into well-greased eight-inch layer cake pans. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for 25 minutes. Ice with uncooked frosting.

Uncooked Frosting.

2 cupfuls confectioners' sugar
1-3 cupful butter
1 teaspoonful vanilla
¼ cupful milk

Mix sugar and butter thoroughly. Add the milk a little at a time until of spreading consistency. Flavor with vanilla.

Cup Cakes.

Cream together well one cupful butter and two cupfuls sugar, then add beaten yolks of four eggs. Add alternately three cupfuls flour sifted with three teaspoonfuls baking powder and one cupful milk. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs, one-half teaspoonful lemon extract and one-half teaspoonful vanilla. Bake in muffin tins in moderate oven. Ice or sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Chocolate Fudge Frosting.

2 cupfuls sugar.
2 tablespoonfuls light corn sirup.
2-3 cupful milk.
2 tablespoonfuls butter.
1 teaspoonful vanilla.
Pinch of salt.

Combine chocolate (cut in pieces), milk, sugar, corn sirup and salt and cook until a small amount forms a very soft ball when tested in cold water. Stir occasionally so that it will not burn. Remove from fire, add butter, cool to lukewarm, add vanilla and beat until creamy and of spreading consistency.

Buttermilk Cookies.

1 egg.
½ cupful buttermilk (or sour milk).
½ cupful shortening
¼ teaspoonful salt.
¼ teaspoonful soda.
Flour to make a soft dough.

Cream shortening and add sugar gradually. Add the well-beaten egg, then the soda dissolved in the buttermilk, the salt and sufficient flour to make a soft dough. Chill, roll to one-fourth inch in thickness and bake on greased tin in a moderate oven (375 degrees) until nicely browned.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Give Mother a Gift of Beauty Whenever Opportunity Offers.

PERHAPS no other day in the year has more human interest surrounding it than Mother's Day. In its humdrum, busy existence the world stops for the day to do homage to her. I saw very definite evidences of this during a recent lecture trip. For weeks before May 8, cards and flowers and gifts were displayed everywhere, with the reminder that Mother's Day was around the corner.

No worthier cause ever existed and no nobler sentiment ever knew expression. Yet I wondered why just one day was set aside for this purpose, why thoughts of her to whom we owe so much did not tug at our heartstrings and open our purse strings daily, or very frequently, at least.

For Birthday or Anniversary.

There's her birthday, her wedding anniversary, Easter and Christmas and one eager enough need have no excuse, but offer mother a remembrance any day in the week. To me a spontaneous gift on just "everyday" seems to have a more genuine, welcome warmth than a gift on a special occasion when one is expected or the conventional thing.

And now let us see what the beauty mart offers in the way of gifts that charm. I can almost hear some of you saying "Of course, it is logical for a beauty editor to think of beauty gifts," but what more appropriate link between the sentimental and practical can you think of?

Permanent Wave Cards.

Most of the better beauty salons throughout the country are offering permanent wave cards. The permanent wave season is here and every modernized mother is delighted to have a wave put in her hair, particularly since the newer methods have been so perfected that the waves look soft and natural and do not dry or harm the hair. You simply purchase one of the permanent wave cards and present it to mother and she telephones for an appointment at her own pleasure and convenience.

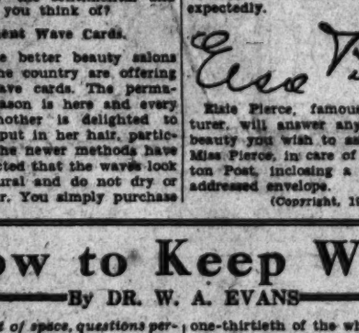
If mother prefers finger waves, treat her to several. Of course, there are dye treatments, rinses, shampoos and any number of hair operations to choose.

A Course of Facial Treatments.

Should her preferences lean toward facial treatments, you can arrange with one of the salons in your vicinity for a course. Picture the feeling of pride in your thoughtfulness, as mother sets aside an hour each week for the facial which is your present to her.

Of course, you can select a group of preparations for home use and make these your gift to her. Bring a package to her some evening and say simply: "Here you are, mother, I thought of you today, and thought you might like these." Make sure the preparations have full directions accompanying them, and of course in selecting them choose those particularly suited to her type of complexion.

There are manicure articles, hand preparations, bath accessories, compacts and delightful make-up items to delight the feminine heart of her. Every woman desires beauty, takes pride in whatever loveliness she can preserve and welcomes a gift of beauty, the more so if it comes unexpectedly.



Kixie Pierce, famous beauty lecturer, will answer any questions on beauty you wish to ask her. Address Miss Pierce, in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

How to Keep Well

EYE ACCIDENTS ON THE FOURTH.

THE Fourth of July approaches. The probability is that the celebrations this year incident to that occasion will cause a considerable number of children to go through life deprived of sight, and others will travel the road handicapped by poor vision and in daily dread that injured eyes will give out entirely.

C. Edith Kerby undertook to find out how many children were blinded by play accidents in one year in the United States. She wrote to all institutions for the blind, to many safety councils and health departments, and she subscribed to a newspaper clipping service for three months.

Accidents are not reportable and there was no trace of dependable official information. The number of newspaper reports of accidents to the eyes Miss Kerby estimates on the basis of her three months' collection as between 750 and 1,000. She thinks one-half of the more severe accidents do not receive newspaper notice.

She writes: "It is probable the number of eye accidents to children occurring in a single year may run into the thousands."

Of these, nearly two-thirds are due to accidents of kinds to which Fourth of July celebrations particularly expose children. Those classified as due to weapons make up nearly one-third of the whole. The subgroups are: Air rifles, B. B. guns, shotguns, and other small caliber rifles, 12 per cent; blank cartridges and cap pistols, 3 per cent; large caliber firearms, 1 per cent; homemade guns and cannon, 2 per cent; slingshots and rubber band flippers, 7 per cent; arrows, 2 per cent; stones and other objects used as missiles, 3 per cent; tear gas guns, 1 per cent.

Fireworks, collectively, are responsible for 23 per cent of the accidents to eyes. These are divided into: Firecrackers, 13 per cent; torpedoes and bombs, 6 per cent; fireworks, 2 per cent. Explosives account for 10 per cent, divided as follows: Gunpowder and dynamite, including empty cartridges, caps and canisters, 6 per cent; chemicals used in experiments, 2 per cent; other explosives (including explosives put in gasoline and pop bottles), 2 per cent.

Sharp, pointed objects account for about one-ninth of the eye accidents. These are divided into: Knives and scissors, 3 per cent; sticks, nails, wires and hooks, 8 per cent. Flying particles are responsible for 8 per cent. Chips of steel, wood or glass for 6 per cent; dust, sand and other objects, 3 per cent.

One-twentieth of the eye accidents are charged against sports. Baseball and bats, 1 per cent; golf balls and golf clubs, 1½ per cent; horseshoes, fishing and swimming, 1 per cent; spinning toys (tops and propellers), 1½ per cent.

Automobile accidents account for one-thirtieth of the whole number of serious eye accidents. The toll of falls is given as 3 per cent; burns, 2 per cent. Miscellaneous and nonclassified accidents account for the remaining 3½ per cent.

IT MAY BE RINGWORM.

E. S. writes: I have something wrong with my fingernails. They turn loose from the flesh and a thickness forms between the nail and the flesh. They "grow down," get sore and will not grow long.

REPLY.

The probability is that you have ringworm of the nails. This is fairly common. Physicians treat it successfully. The nails are to be painted, but not with the paints some ladies use. It may be necessary to soften and thin them before the paint can reach the layers where the microbes are.

RADICALLY NEW! Phantom Kotex
SANITARY NAPKINS (U. S. Pat. No. 1,857,854)

AT LAST! A radically new design in Kotex sanitary protection.

IT is called PHANTOM KOTEX. Why? Because the ends are so flattened and tapered that it leaves no outlines even under the closest fitting gowns.

Kotex features retained

It is soft and comfortable, even after hours of use; wonderfully absorbent; treated to deodorize; can be worn, with equal protection, on either side; disposable, easily.

Insist upon getting genuine Kotex, when you buy it already wrapped. Each tapered end of the new pad is stamped "Kotex" now—so you can't get inferior substitutes. And this new improvement comes to you at no increase in price!

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

SEVERAL of the most important events of the second day of the Democratic meeting to choose a standard bearer and running mate will find their way into the ether. Every day of the convention the N. B. C. networks will carry five regular periods of condensed reports of the proceedings, in addition to broadcasting from the platform and the floor. These periods are as follows: 8:15 a. m., WRC; 10:30 a. m., WRC; 12 noon, WJZ-WBAL; 5 p. m., WRC; 10:15 p. m., WRC.

Columbia has allotted four regular periods daily, all of which will be heard over WMAL. They are 9:30 a. m. (except Friday), 11 to 11:15 a. m., 3 to 3:15 p. m., 5:45 to 6 p. m. and 10 to 10:15 p. m.

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, social leader and political observer, of Washington, will be introduced this morning by Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank in the latter's program featuring Democratic women leaders scheduled for 8:15 over WRC each morning.

William Gibbs McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, will speak in a WMAL 9:30 a. m. period today.

IN addition to the above, WMAL has scheduled two hours of straight convention, beginning at 11 a. m. WRC will be on the air for a half hour, beginning at 10:30 a. m., direct from the convention floor.

Some of the announcers are going back to an old idea of reading all the selections on the program to fill in a minute or two at the end. That is usually an indication that the program was badly timed.

Dramatization of "The Craddock Case," originally scheduled for last Tuesday night, but postponed because of the Sharkey-Schmeling fight, will be heard during the Lucky Strike Hour (WRC, 9 o'clock) tonight. Ted Fiorito and his orchestra, playing from San Francisco, will be featured.

Martial airs and a variety of dance rhythms dominate the Goldman Band concert to be broadcast from the New York University campus tonight (WJZ, 8:30 o'clock). Among the selections are "Semper Fidelis" (Sousa), "Light Cavalry" (Suppe), selections from "Farewell Symphony" (Haydn) and the "Anvil Chorus" from "Il Trovatore" (Verdi).

THE 200th consecutive program of Radio Joe and his Budget Boys will be on the air from WMAL at 6:30 p. m. The regular talent, led by "Radio Joe" Kaufman, will be featured.

Alex Gray, barytone, has chosen "Evening Star," from "Tannhauser," and the "Lullaby of the Leaves," current popular song, for his solo numbers during the Music That Satisfies (WMAL) program at 9 o'clock tonight.

Willem van Hoogstraten, who will be heard conducting the broadcasts of the Lewisohn Stadium concerts for the next four weeks over WMAL, has been reengaged to conduct the Bonn Beethoven Festival for the season of 1933. This will be the third successive season that he has conducted the gala week of concerts in the city of Beethoven's birth.

JULY will see more withdrawals from the microphone. Mary and Bob, the Old Counselor, the Three Bakers, and the Stag Party will retire. The Sisters of the Skillet and B. A. Rolfe's Orchestra will be without sponsors. Studio progams will utilize the time.

July and August ought to offer opportunity for those who have program ideas to gain a hearing and possibly an actual tryout on the air. The program directors have more time to talk about and listen to worth-while ideas. It is expected that when a number of the sponsors renew broadcasting in the autumn new performers and new programs will be summoned to the microphone.

Washington Boys' Club Members Off for Camp

Forty members of the Washington Boy's Club left yesterday for a two-week stay at Camp Reeder, the summer headquarters of the club on the Wicomico River. The trip was made in the club's trucks and in private autos supplied by friends of the members.

The city clubhouse will be closed for the summer, Director Charles M. Fyfe said, but a program of outdoor athletics for the boys remaining in the city and those returning from camp will be carried out by Harry Child, athletic director.

DOWN THRU THE NARROW HOLE CLIMBED THE SCIENTISTS INTO A HUGE ROOM LEADING INTO ANOTHER LABYRINTH
AFTER CONSIDERABLE STUDY OF THE CHART, PREPARED BY PROF. STARK, PROF. TAYLOR ADDRESSED HIS CO-WORKERS
MEN, WE ARE ABOUT TO ENTER THE MOST HAZARDOUS PART OF OUR JOURNEY!! WE MUST STAY CLOSE TOGETHER AND STUDY THIS MAP EVERY FEW MINUTES!!
THE LABYRINTH IS FULL OF FALSE PASSAGES AND BLIND ALLEYS AND WE ARE LOST IF WE DO NOT CAREFULLY KEEP OUR BEARINGS AT ALL TIMES!!
AFTER A JOURNEY OF SOME TWO HUNDRED YARDS PROF. TAYLOR STOPPED AND AGAIN STUDIED THE MAP
WE TURN HERE AND TAKE THE PASSAGE TO THE RIGHT! SAY, BILL, HOLD THE LIGHT A BIT HIGHER... I CANT SEEM TO SEE THE MAP AS WELL AS I DID AT FIRST!!
HEH-HEH!
PROF. STARK WHO HAD GIVEN PROF. TAYLOR THE MAP MADE WITH DISAPPEARING INK NOW CHUCKLED TO HIMSELF
ALREADY THE MAP IS BEGINNING TO FADE. HEH-HEH-HEH...
IN ORDER TO DOUBLY MISLEAD, ON THEIR RETURN, THE MEN HE HATED, PROF. STARK MADE MANY FALSE CROSS MARKS ON THE WALLS
WE SHOULD BE NEARING THE TOMB NOW!!

A LOCKED DOOR BARRED US FROM THE UNDERGROUND ROOM WHENCE KILLER KANE DIRECTED THE ACTIVITIES OF THE CRIMINAL ORGANIZATION THAT WAS ROBBING THE GREAT RADIUM MINE OF GREENLAND, LOCATED TWO MILES BENEATH THE SURFACE OF THE ICE SHEET— OUR PROBLEM WAS HOW TO FORCE THE DOOR.
BUT HOW ARE YOU GOING TO CRASH THE DOOR WITH THAT MOTO-TUBE?
THAT'S EASY! YOU JUST UNSCREW THE CAP — AND USE THE ONE-WAY ENERGY BEAM TO PUSH AGAINST THE DOOR!
THE DOOR GROANED UNDER THE TERRIFIC PRESSURE OF THE NON-RECOIL ENERGY BEAM.
EASY NOW — YOU DON'T WANT TO BLOW IT CLEAR ACROSS THE ROOM! THERE MIGHT BE SOMEONE IN THERE
I'M CONCENTRATING ON THE LOCK — SO AS TO DAMAGE THE DOOR AS LITTLE AS POSSIBLE!
THERE IT GOES!

NATS INVADE NEW YORK TODAY AT FULL STRENGTH

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Two new pretenders to the crown that Jack Sharkey inherited from Max Schmeling on a decision that smelled to heaven are Stanley Poreda, overgrown Jersey City middleweight, and Johnny Risko, Cleveland's perennial trial horse.

Poreda catapulted to the forefront of challengers by carrying out a clearcut decision over Ernie Schaaf, Sharkey's protege, in whom the champion has a half-interest. Risko bounced back into the limelight with a rousing victory over Mickey Walker in a gory fight at Chicago.

Poreda or Risko thus looms as the next opponent for Sharkey, for it is presumed that the champion will have no further truck with Max Schemling until he has capitalized a bit on the title which he holds as a result of the farfetched votes of Referee Gunboat Smith and Judge George Kelly.

It has even been suggested that when they chisel Sharkey's name on the Tunney-Muldoon trophy, emblematic of the world championship, below those of Tunney, Dempsey and the other illustrious predecessors that they chisel also the names of Gunboat Smith and George Kelly below Sharkey's in parenthesis to denote accurately the manner in which the former gob into his honors.

The victories of Poreda and Risko last week served to eliminate the contenders for Sharkey's title rather than provide an outstanding challenger. Neither Poreda or Risko boast the ability to uphold the best traditions of the championship, overlooking of course, the present incumbency.

One result of the bouts last week has been to crown a champion who has been decisively beaten by one of the present challengers. Johnny Risko punched out a decision over Sharkey four years ago when the present champion was supposed to be in his prime, and thus we have the spectacle of a champion who has as one of his chief challengers an old trial horse, who, before he beat Walker last week, was an in-and-out fourth rater.

The suspicion that Sharkey "carried" Mickey Walker in their bout last summer in which Sharkey was held to a draw, was entirely dissipated by the gob's sorry showing against Schmeling. Sharkey apparently fought as best he could that night to earn a draw, for he was not an improved fighter against Schmeling with the world championship at stake.

Previous to beating Walker after coming out of a seven months retirement Risko had been defeated by such fistic unworthies as Babe Hunt, Dick Daniels and Tuffy Griffith, none of whom should be mentioned in the same breath with a world champion. And Risko beat easily the man that Sharkey was barely able to fight to a disputed draw.

Poreda's victory over Schaaf served to lower rather than improve the class of the chief contenders. A few months ago, Poreda was flattened by Salvatore Ruggirello, who can be dismissed with the notation that he suffered a knockout at the hands of Marty Gallagher. Hoary old Jack Renault, another fellow named Raoul Bianchi and another named Ralph Puccicello are others that hold decisions over Poreda.

The uncrowned champion is on the high seas, taking his disappointment back to the fatherland. He'll fight Sharkey again when Sharkey is ready for his final fling at prize fighting. And there'll be a new champion.

4 Golfers Leading In College Title Play

The scores were turned in by Johnny Fischer, of Michigan; Hank Koval, of Colgate; Winston Fuller, of Southern California, and Fred Kramer, of Princeton. Billy Howell, Washington and Lee ace, and familiar with the tortuous Cascades course, had 76, along with Don Moe, University of Oregon. Both are rated favorites.

Fischer's 72, one over par, caused excitement in the gallery, since it was his first trip around the difficult course. He arrived at Hot Springs this morning after finishing second among the amateurs in the national open last week.

Howell, a semifinalist in last year's national amateur, was erratic today. He went out in 37, but got a bad start homeward, and only a pair of birdies, on the sixteenth and seventeenth, kept him up with the leaders.

Of the field, 34 broke 80. Yale and Michigan appeared to be out in front for the team championship. Sidney F. Noyes and John E. Barker shot 74's and Dave Gamble had 75, to keep Yale in the running.

Tennis Title To Mangan, Markey

Beat Smith-Graham in Middle Atlantic Final.

Victors Easily Best in Doubles Victory, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

TOM MANGAN and Bud Markey, who, with various partners have won the Middle Atlantic doubles tennis championship three out of the last five years, teamed up yesterday to continue the virtual dynasty. They defeated Lieuts. Gerry Smith and Roy Graham, a Navy Leech Cup team, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3, at Columbia Country Club by playing outstandingly good tennis from the opening volley of Markey's down to the last blasting drive by Tom Mangan.

It was the best match of the tournament and brought together the first and second seeded teams. With the score tied at 1-1 in the final set, a torrential downpour drove the players from the courts and sent the galleries scampering for the protection of Columbia's synthetic pergolas. The match was completed later on a court which had become a morass.

But the tennis maintained its character and the winning combination exerted about the same mastery over the Navy team as was visible during the previous two sets. Mangan and Markey make the strongest doubles team Washington has had in easily a decade—a team that is at once steadfastly consistent, largely the work of Mangan's driving, and at the same time brilliant and audacious, much the work of Markey.

Mangan-Markey Take Big Lead.

Making so few errors that they appeared well nigh supernatural, Mangan and Markey raced to 4—0 in the first set and gave every evidence of turning the match into an utter rout, when Smith and Graham dug in and bucked their way up to 3—4 on some inspired volleying by Smith and the outlandishly topped drives of Graham. But the inspiration wilted in face of Mangan's unfathomable control on his forehand and the diving, twisting lambasting play of his younger partner.

The first set ended with Markey single-handedly throwing disorder into the Navy ranks with lobs that brought puffs of white from the lines, and drives that bit into the feet of the lieutenants as they rushed netward. The second set was close only until 2—2, when Graham's service was broken, for 3—2, and Smith's was broken for the set. Rain came down at 1—1 in the third, but Markey and Mangan were as good mudders as fast-track entries, and the match was soon theirs.

It is not likely that they will represent the Middle Atlantic section in the national doubles.

Governors to Judge Levinsky-Baer Fight

Dusek and Garibaldi Bout Puzzles Fans

For the first time since Dick Shikat met Ray Steele at the Auditorium a year and a half ago, Washington's mat fans are confronted with an unpickable rassling exhibition—the meeting Thursday night at Griffith Stadium between Rudy Dusek and Gino Garibaldi, both of whom have reputations too valuable to risk.

Another 10,000 crowd is anticipated by Promoter Turner, who points out that tickets have been reduced and women, accompanied by escorts, are free.

MRS. MOODY NEARS 5TH TITLE

WIMBLEDON, England, June 27 (A.P.).—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, still queen of all the tennis courts she surveys, won her way to the semifinals of the Wimbledon championships in impressive fashion today.

Playing Dorothy Round, fourth ranking English star, in the quarterfinal round, Mrs. Moody won, 6—0, 6—1, to continue her record of not losing a set in the current tournament. She is seeking her fifth Wimbledon singles title.

Helen Jacobs, second only to Mrs. Moody in the American ranking list, gave the United States two representatives in the last four as she just lasted to defeat Hilda Kranwinkel, German star, 6—2, 6—4. Miss Kranwinkel put Miss Jacobs out of the tournament last year in the semifinal round.

Little Irish Girl Wins in Upset.

Mary Heeley, little Irish player, and Mme. Rene Mathieu, leading French star, completed the semifinal brackets, with Miss Heeley paired against Mrs. Moody and Mme. Mathieu against Miss Jacobs. Miss Heeley caught Eileen Bennett Whittingstall in an error-making mood and won, 3—6, 6—4, 6—0. Mme. Mathieu put out the last English hope, Betty Nuthall, 6—0, 6—3.

Play continued in women's doubles with Miss Jacobs pairing with Elizabeth Ryan to win the only American victory over Mrs. J. Lycett and Mrs. G. Peacock, of England, 6—2, 7—5.

There was no play in men's singles, where America has three representatives in the last eight. The battle will be resumed in that division tomorrow with Sidney B. Wood, jr., defending title holder, playing Jiro Satoh, of Japan, Frank Shields meeting H. E. (Bunny) Austin, England's ranking player, and Ellsworth Vines, jr., American champion, paired with Enrique Maier, champion of Spain.

Austin Favored Over Shields.

Wood and Vines are favorites to win, but Austin is given the edge over the towering Shields, whom he defeated in the Davis Cup interzone final at Paris last summer.

Two American combinations advanced to the fourth round of men's doubles. Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, Davis Cup pair, defeated Ian G. Collins and J. Colin Gregory, 6—4, 6—1, 6—4, while Wood and Gregory S. Mangin eliminated C. A. Magrane and J. R. Redall, 6—2, 7—5, 6—4.

The only upset in this division was the defeat of Jack Crawford and Harry Hopman, of Australia, by the Japanese combination of R. Miki and Jiro Satoh, 6—4, 10—12, 6—2, 3—6, 9—7.

RAGLAND LOSES DEBUT.

Memphis, Tenn., June 27.—Frank Ragland, Chattanooga's new acquisition from the Washington Club, was beaten in his first start for the Lookouts today. He blanked Memphis until the eighth, but they scored 3 runs in the last two innings for a 3-to-2 victory.

3 Boxers Suspended On 5-Day Regulation

Cleveland, June 27 (A.P.).—Tommy Freeman and Johnny Farr, of Cleveland, and Chico Cisneros, of Chicago, who appeared in the preliminaries to the Johnny Risko-Mickey Walker fight here last Friday, were suspended for sixty days each by the boxing commission today.

They violated a commission rule prohibiting a fighter from participating in a bout within five days of a bout in Cleveland. The three men were charged with boxing last week in Pittsburgh.

LEWIS BOWS IN ARMY UPSET

Brownfield Surprises in Net Tourney Opener.

PRELIMINARY round matches in the annual United States Army tennis championship were played yesterday on the composition courts of the Army-Navy Country Club, with only one upset occuring. Lieut. Millard Lewis, former Western High School and West Point tennis captain, lost to Lieut. Brownfield, 6—4, 6—4.

The defending singles champion, Lieut. Stanley K. Robinson, showed old-time form in romping over Capt. Crane, 6—3, 6—2, bringing off many smooth forehand and backhand drives to confound his older opponent. Lieut. Robinson is the top seeded player in the tournament, followed by Maj. Robert C. Van Vliet, former D. C. and Army champion; Lieut. D. D. Hedekin, runner-up last year and Maj. Dorst, who holds the City of Washington doubles title. Lieut. Millard Lewis, Lieut. Jack Helms, Lieut. Drake and Maj. Gordon.

Newgarden, Sherburne Advance.

Among the players to advance yesterday were Maj. P. W. Newgarden, who beat Lieut. Harris Hull, 6—3, 6—2, and Lieut. Sherburne, who beat Capt. Jackson, 7—5, 6—3.

Matches today will be played at 9 and 10 o'clock. One of the feature matches is expected to be the clash between Maj. Van Vliet and Lieut. Jim Heiskell, a local player of note.

The doubles will start tomorrow. This afternoon will be given over to trial matches for places on the Army Leech Cup team, which meets the Navy, July 16, at the Army-Navy Club.

Finnish Star Breaks World's Javelin Mark

Abo, Finland, June 27 (A.P.)—Matti Jarvinen, of Finland, bettered the world's record for the javelin throw today with a toss of 74.02 meters, or 242 feet 10 29-128 inches.

The listed world's record for the javelin throw is 71.01 meters, 232 feet 11⅛ inches, set by E. H. Lundquist, of Sweden, at Stockholm in 1928.

TREASURY NETMEN TOP.

Treasury Department holds a slight lead in the Department Tennis League, with 10 wins and 4 losses. Navy is second, 10 and 5, followed by Bureau of Standards, 5 and 5; Postoffice-Agriculture, 7 and 8; Bureau of Investigation, 6 and 8; Patent Office, 3 and 2; War Department, 4 and 6, and Veterans Administration, 4 and 11.

LEPPER HEADS "T" CLUB.

Henry J. Lepper will again head the Tech High Alumni "T" Club. He was elected at the annual meeting, as were the following officers: Joseph Teehan, vice president; Artie Wondrack, treasurer; Charles Barber, secretary; Warren Spencer, executive committee; Thomas Scrivener, football; Artie Boyd, basket ball; Everett Damesest, track, and Howard Saford, baseball.

MARINES 8-4 VICTORS IN POLO

Beat Third Cavalry; 16th Field Artillery Also Scores.

By RICHARD S. TENNYSON.

ANENT the slogan of the Marines "on land and sea," the devil dogs today add "and horseback," as yesterday the polo four from Quantico, Va., gave the Third Cavalry riders of Fort Myer a riding and polo lesson. The occasion was the opening of the tournament for the Argentine Cup. The Marines won, 8 to 4, and in a second game, Sixteenth Field Artillery stopped Fort Humphreys, 8 to 6.

In balancing the handicaps, it was found that the Marines earned a one-goal advantage but, as the score indicates, it was not needed. Aside from riding their ponies masterfully and fearlessly, the Marine four wielded their mallets expertly and a considerable part of their victory was due to fine defensive play.

Humphreys Throws Scare Into Artillerymen.

Fort Humphreys threw a scare into the Sixteenth Field squad in the early periods. The Engineers were given a two-goal handicap and added two earned goals to this in the first period and went right back in the second to score in the first few minutes to put them in the lead, 5 to 0.

About midway the second chukker, Lieut. Thompson broke through for a score and, despite the fact that the Humphreys' four put up a worthy struggle for the remainder of the game, it was easy to see after Thompson's success that the Artillerymen had the edge. In the fourth period, the winners scored four markers to put the game on ice.

The Marines scored in every period except the last to gain their decisive victory over Third Cavalry. The Fort Myer men had frequent tries at the Quantico goal, but fine blocking by Lieut. Ferguson always stopped them just a few feet from their objective. It is difficult to pick the outstanding Marine player, as teamwork was one of its greatest assets. Today the Third Cavalry Yellows will play the War Blues at 3 o'clock.

Golfer Waits Sanction To Accept Prize Auto

Oklahoma City, June 27 (A.P.).—Gus Moreland won a motor car because he emerged champion in the Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament Saturday, but is undecided about accepting it.

The 21-year-old Texan awaits approval of the United States Golf Association, fearing otherwise his amateur status would be jeopardized.

The title went to Texas for the first time in the 32 years of the tournament when Moreland defeated a fellow townsman from Dallas, David (Spec) Goldman, 1 up.

Macks Win 2 With Boston, 15-8, 9-4

Regain Third Place When Frietas Goes Route in Final.

PHILADELPHIA, June 27 (A.P.).—The Athletics leveled their big guns on five Boston pitchers today and battered the Red Sox into submission in both games of a double-header, 15 to 8 and 9 to 4, to displace Washington from third place.

Three Sox twirlers were pounded for nineteen hits in the first game, while George Earnshaw coasted along comfortably to mark up his fourth straight victory and his twelfth of the season. Mule Haas' seventh-inning home run with the bases loaded featured the nightcap, in which Tony Freitas outpitched a pair of visiting curvers.

Roy Johnson Hits Three Homers.

Although he was playing on the losing side, Roy Johnson, recently obtained by Boston from Detroit, gave the day's greatest hitting exhibition. The former Tiger belted Earnshaw for two home runs and a double in the opener, knocking in seven of his team's eight runs, and nicked Freitas for another homer in the second tilt.

The Mackmen clinched the first game when they knocked Paul Andrews from the hill and scored six runs in the second inning. Jimmy Foxx had a perfect game, banging four singles in as many trips, and Roger Cramer collected a home run, a triple and two singles.

Jolley's Homer Gives Red Sox Lead.

Smead Jolley put the Sox away in front in the second game by hitting a home run in the first frame with two on, but their lead lasted only until the fourth round, where Freitas delivered a single that knocked across two runs and put the A's ahead, 4 to 3.

Two Bonus Marchers In July 4 Marathon

Entries from the Bonus Expeditionary Force and from seven States and the District have been received for the Department of Playgrounds-Takoma Park Citizens annual marathon, scheduled July 4.

Bernard McCoy, of Chicago, and Bill Kennedy, Dorchester, Mass., are the bonus marchers entered in the race, which will determine the District 10-mile A. A. U. championship. The States represented are Illinois, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina.

Bill Agee, sensational Baltimore marathon star, tendered his entry to the committee yesterday. Entries are being received at room 313, District Building. Blanks may also be obtained there, as well as at Spalding's and Fairway stores.

Tigers Combine Hits, Chisox Errors to Win

Chicago, June 27 (A.P.).—Detroit's Tigers combined eight hits, five of them for extra bases, with five Chicago errors today to take the final game of the series, 9 to 3.

While Izzy Goldstein was holding the White Sox to five hits, his mates hit Frasier and Caraway opportunely, Stone and Davis knocking home runs and Gerald Walker connecting for three doubles. Goldstein's only source of trouble was his own wildness, the young Tiger walking five and hitting two.

Derringer Is Hero As Cards Down Cubs

St. Louis, June 27 (A.P.).—The veteran Burleigh Grimes gave way before the youngster Paul Derringer as the St. Louis Cardinals copped today's game, 4 to 1, to win three out of a four-game series. It was the fourth victory this year for Derringer, who allowed the Clubs five safeties. He also contributed a double, which drove in a run, and made a sacrifice.

Edelin, Mt. St. Mary's Star, Signed by Nats

Word was received from Clark Griffith, president of the Nationals, who is in New York for the series with the Yankees, to the effect that Edward Edelin, former Mount St. Mary's mound ace, has been signed and has reported.

Edelin has starred for the "Saints" for the past three seasons and pitched his best game of the present season here in Washington when he held the heavy-hitting Georgetown team to but two hits.

2 Games in Gotham Provide Nats With Chance to Gain.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

MANAGER WALTER JOHNSON and his Nationals yesterday afternoon boarded a train for New York, where they battle the league-leading Yankees in the first of a two-game series this afternoon. Alphonse (Tommy) Thomas, recently purchased from the White Sox, who won his debut in Washington livery in Cleveland last week, has been nominated to do the flinging for the Capital Cityans, while he likely will be opposed by either Johnny Allen or the veteran Herb Pennock, neither of whom has worked since taking a licking against the St. Louis Browns in the final series of the Western invasion.

With Heinie Manush, who idled here Saturday and Sunday when the Red Sox were met, due to slightly reinjuring a leg muscle which kept him inactive earlier in the season, back on the job again, the Nationals will have full strength to throw against the Yankees, although Shortstop Joe Cronin's thumb is still far from normal.

Game First of Series Of Eight Tests.

Today's game will be the first of a series of tests which the Washingtonians must pass between now and next Monday. They draw a day of rest on Thursday; but on the other days they will be meeting either the Yankees or the Mackmen, with a double-header in Philadelphia Saturday and the usual holiday twin bill here against the New Yorkers next Monday, July 4.

While "Babe Ruth and Company" hold quite a substantial lead, being eight games in front of the second-place Detroit Tigers, lots of water will flow under the bridges before the schedule is completed and the New Yorkers will not have any time to stop and pick dandelions over the balance of the route. In addition to the Tigers, neither the Mackmen, who yesterday passed the idling Nats in the race, nor the Washington Club will admit that the battle is over. These three teams are closely bunched in a second-place battle and, with some consistent winning themselves, are in a position to take advantage of any slump which the Yankees might have—and no team is immune from slumps, the records show.

GOLD STEP WINS $5,000 ARLINGTON INAUGURAL IN UPSET

Gelding, 17-1, Scores by A Head

Jamestown, Favorite, Fifth in Feature Opening Track.

CHICAGO, June 27 (A.P.).—Gold Step, a 5-year-old chestnut gelding sporting the silks of Mrs. S. B. Fairbanks, of Baltimore, stole act one of Swanky Arlington Park's $800,000 turf show today by defeating Polydorus for the $5,000 Inaugural Handicap Purse.

Although rated so lightly that he was placed among the field horses, the son of Sweep On—Golden Stairs raced well up with the leaders until he came to the stretch and then rushed to the front, holding off a hard challenge by Polydorus to win by a head. Epithet finished third, a length and a half behind Polydorus, while Jamestown, the heavily played favorite, came in fifth behind My Dandy. Jockey H. Shutte rode the winner, which raced the seven furlongs in 1:24 1-5 over a fast track.

Gold Step paid $35.96 to win, $7.12 to place and $3.94 to show in the pari-mutuels. Polydorus paid $3.48 to place and $3.06 to show. The show price on Epithet was $4.82.

Included in the opening day crowd were notables from all over the country and visitors to the Democratic convention.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:08. Off at 3:08½. Winner, Mrs. E. Denemark's ch. f. (3), by Transmute—Dolores. Trained by R. T. Watts. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:22 3-5, 0:46, 1:11 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MISS MARR, $9.58, $5.04, $4.30; SUPREME SWEET, $7.90, $6.32; PORTCODINE, $5.46.

MISS MARR, always close to the pace, displayed more gameness than usual in the final run and bested SUPREME SWEET in a close finish. SUPREME SWEET went to the front early, held on well after making the pace. PORTCODINE improved his position steadily in the last quarter and was going well at end. HIGHER could not keep up. JAZ AGE was off slowly and never dangerous. The others were outpaced.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,400; allowances. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:37. Off at 3:39. Winner, Mrs. John Hertz's ch. c. (3), by Noah—Prizeur. Trained by William Knapp. Value to winner, $1,050; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:22 4-5, 0:47, 1:11 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FAIRBYPAIR, $3.78, $3.42, $2.72; WAR GLOW, $8.26, $5.18; SAZERAC, $6.08.

FAIRBYPAIR, easily best, went to front at once and never in danger showed the way to finish to win easily. WAR GLOW, closest to the pace at all times, showed a good effort but never threatened the winner. SAZERAC was slow to get going but made fast finish. TROMBONE went fairly well.

FOURTH RACE—One mile (Hertz Course). Purse, $1,500. Allowances. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good out of chute. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:06. Off at 4:07. Winner, J. Two-dollar mutuels paid—GOLD STEP, $35.96, $7.12, $3.94; POLYDORUS, $3.48, $3.06; EPITHET, $4.82.

GOLD STEP, never far from the leaders, came gamely after entering the stretch and, taking command when JAMESTOWN and MY DANDY began to tire, held POLYDORUS at finish. POLYDORUS, forced to go in close quarters after entering the stretch, but found an opening near the finish and, coming through, would have won in a few more strides. EPITHET improved his position in the stretch and was going well at finish. MY DANDY raced on even terms with JAMESTOWN in the early running but altered the final running. JAMESTOWN shied early, but was used up racing with MY DANDY and weakened under his weight in the final drive. SILVERDALE could not keep up. The others were outrun.

SIXTH RACE—One mile (Hertz course, out of chute.) Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:07. Off at 5:09½. Winner, John A. Marsch's blk. h. (3), by Atheling II—Miss Laura. Trained by Phil Reuter. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47, 1:11 3-5, 1:36.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PRINCE ATHELING, $4.72, $3.20, $2.68; TOTEM, $5.18, $3.70; OUTBOUND, $5.48.

PRINCE ATHELING followed the pace under slight restraint to the stretch, then came fast on the outside to take command and win easily. TOTEM, forced to outrun to the stretch, but closed strongly. OUTBOARD displayed good early speed, but weakened in the final run and barely lasted to save third place. PORTMANTEAU had no excuses and could not keep up. GAY BIRD and PROSE AND POETRY tired when the real racing began. WILLIAM T. dropped back soon after starting and was never a dangerous factor.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:36½. Off at 5:38½. Winner, Clay Koettler's b. f. COMMODITY PRICES AT SUMMER QUIET

Activity, Due to New Taxes, Seems to Have Subsided; Bond 'Bargains' Sought.

New York, June 27 (A.P.).—Save for a mild flush of buying which reached its peak the first of the week, in anticipation of the new Federal tax rates, today's crop of weekly reports indicated that business had for the most part settled down into the rut of summer quiet.

Here and there were some interesting promises of improvement. Electric Power production continued its recent increase, and there was fair buying of low-priced automobiles. Car loadings as reported for the week ended June 11 showed more than seasonal decline after allowing for holiday influence in the previous week.

Building contracts tended to taper off and steel activity was still bumping along at the lowest level in ten years or more—at 16 per cent of capacity, according to Iron Age.

Business Men Hopeful.

Business sentiment, however, appeared hopeful. A reflection of this was furnished in Dun's review which observed that "there appears to be a growing feeling that conditions are showing a slight upward trend, and that the readjustments and liquidations which have been under way for months now are giving evidences of tangible results."

Bradstreet's found that business was "spotty," with weather playing a dominant role, but concluded that business as a whole is now "between seasons."

Total freight car loadings for the week ended June 11 were 501,760 against 447,387 the preceding week, in which the Memorial Day holiday was observed, but below the 520,961 figure of the week ended May 28. Estimated automobile production for the week ended June 18 was 53,158 against 52,560 the week before, a gain which was attributed primarily to increased production of low-priced cars.

Adjusting Prices to Taxes.

Meanwhile, industry set about its task of adjusting prices to the new tax rates, and this work was apparently being accomplished with a minimum of friction or difficulty.

Some financial observers, however, pointed out that the obvious thinness of the market augured well; that urgent liquidation was extremely small; that the $100,000,000 Bankers Bond-Buying Corporation was admittedly lying in wait for "bargains;" that there were indications business and trade were not getting materially worse, and that anticipated Government financing, entailed by congressional relief measures, had already been well discounted.

The presidential campaign and the cutting of the rediscount rate and bankers' bill rates by the New York Federal Reserve Bank apparently had little effect on senior securities. There was a monetary moderate upturn in the United States Government section and in high-grade investments, following the Reserve Bank's action, but it did not hold for long.

German Bonds Heavily Traded In.

While hopes and fears fluctuated during the week regarding developments at the important Lausanne war debts and reparations conference, German government bonds proved the principal barometers of this gathering. Both the Reich 5½s and 7s were heavily traded, working irregularly higher. Other foreign issues were mixed.

The rails continued to display a mildly heavy trend and the utilities and industrials followed a narrow range. The Federal list was comparatively steady, fractional gains and losses being about evenly divided.

Wheat Pool Bankruptcy Sought.

Winnipeg, Man., June 27 (A.P.).—Application to have the Manitoba wheat pool declared bankrupt was made today in the supreme court of Manitoba by A. B. Hudson on behalf of the Gillespie Terminal Grain Co., of Fort William.

Budapest Bank Rate Cut.

Budapest, Hungary, June 27 (A.P.). The Budapest National Bank today reduced its discount rate by 1 per cent to 5 per cent.

Rout of Trade Specters Clears Way for Revival

New York, June 27 (A.P.).—Bogey chasing in the first half of 1932 has laid many specters to rest, said the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York in a study of business conditions today, and has caused a "clearing of the atmosphere during the past month that gives some promise of brighter prospects."

"There was the fear that this country would be forced off the gold standard and was facing complete economic catastrophe," the analysis said. "Foreign security selling and the export of gold followed persistently; but with the final export of foreign balances, that specter disappears.

"Fear of deflationary banking legislation again possessed the public mind, but Congress will apparently adjourn without enacting such legislation.

MARKET COMMENT

Westheimer & Co.—Market being held back by lack of outside interest. Conditions favorable toward technical rally should any favorable developments occur in the news.

G. M.-P. Murphy & Co.—The market has an impressive array of hurdles to negotiate the next few weeks. On Tuesday and Wednesday there are an unusual number of important and doubtful dividend meetings. Over the Fourth of July holiday steel operations are likely to be at the year's low, with operations practically suspended. Official estimates of second quarter earnings are starting, and in about a week the first actual reports will begin to appear. Added to those are the uncertainties from Chicago, political and banking, from Washington, Lausanne, Geneva and central Europe. Moratorium in Austria, which would spread to numerous other small European countries, would follow failure to obtain an international loan.

Probably the most favorable factor is that there will be little or nothing expected about bad news from any of the above sources. The possibility of very important and favorable surprises must not be overlooked. It will be a relief to get the earnings and dividend reports and the mid-year steel let-down out of the way. It is possible that the Democratic convention or the conferences abroad might produce results which would suddenly and dramatically change the speculative outlook.

Robert C. Jones & Co.—The continued delay in enacting the economy and relief bills and the prolonged session of the Congress has caused a feeling of pessimism in the securities market. This pessimism has become so widespread and short selling has probably increased to such an extent that any favorable legislative or foreign development should cause a sharp rally.

The following summary of yesterday's financial markets abroad is from the regular European service of the Associated Press.

London—Pending developments at the Lausanne conference, gilt-edged securities and foreign issues were quiet and easy. American shares declined in sympathy with lower Wall street prices. Interest was revived in gold mining and shipping shares. The close was easy.

Paris—Price fluctuations were small and trading quiet. French rentes steadied after early weakness. International issues advanced and rubber shares were strong in anticipation of a reduction in the stock on hand.

Berlin—Trading was quiet on the boerse today, pending the outcome of the Lausanne conference and inner political decisions.

Spartanburg Bank Closes.

Spartanburg, S. C., June 27 (A.P.). The First National Bank here failed to open for business today, and officials of the institution said its affairs had been placed in the hands of bank examiners. Only one bank now remains open here. Henry M. Cleveland is president of the bank which, in its last statement, reported a paid in capital stock of $500,000, demand deposits of $1,458,305 and time deposits of $1,395,088.

GRAIN VALUES DROP ON CROP PROSPECTS

Chicago, June 27 (A.P.).—Weak-kneed action of the New York stock market, simultaneous with increasing likelihood of a bumper yield of corn, tumbled grain values downhill today.

Wheat and corn both fell to almost even with the season's bottom price record. Lessened apprehension of black rust did much to pull buying support out from under the wheat market.

Wheat closed nervous, ¾ to ⅞ under Saturday's finish, corn ⅝ to 1⅝ down, oats ¼ to ½ off, and provisions unchanged to 17 cents up.

At first, wheat and other grains showed an upward trend, owing largely to a spurt of buying because of cloudbursts in the wheat harvest region—Southwest. Talk of a wet harvest not damaging the quality of the winter crop, but reducing its size because of difficulty in using combines had a transient bullish effect. The market was also stimulated for a time by almost 6,500,000 bushels decrease of the amount of wheat afloat and by 1,000,000 bushels curtailment of supplies at Liverpool.

Wheat Buying Insufficient.

In the face of unsettlement of securities and in the corn market, however, buying power in wheat became insufficient to uphold values when profit-taking and speculative selling broadened out on bulges. The fact that domestic receipts of wheat were extremely small, only 1,215 cars Southwest today, against 4,792 cars a year ago, failed to act as a counterbalance. And, so too, did 1,638,000 bushels falling off in the United States wheat visible supply. Authoritative estimates that the world's carry-over of wheat on July 1 would be but 640,000,000 bushels, compared with 656,000,000 a year previous, was lost sight of altogether, with corn crop prospects auspicious, liquidating sales started in July contracts, and prices suffered a sudden drop. Weather conditions were generally favorable for corn growth, although excessive rains may delay cultivation. Oats and rye followed corn and wheat.

Provisions were responsive to hog price upturns to the topmost point since March 24.

Marshall Field's Board Head Stays as Director

Chicago, June 27 (A.P.).—The resignation of James Simpson as chairman of the board of Marshall Field & Co. was accepted today, but the directors decided not to appoint a successor. Simpson, who retired from management of the department store to head the three Insull utility operating companies here, remains a member of the board of directors.

No other change in official personnel was made, John McKinley remaining president. No action was taken on the preferred dividend due June 30 on Marshall Field stock, the directors voting "to maintain the strong liquid position of the corporation." Cash and quick investments were reported in excess of $18,000,000.

$300,000,000 READY JULY 1 IN DIVIDENDS

Another $500,000,000 to Be Paid Bondholders in Form of Interest.

New York, June 27 (A.P.).—Although many dividends have been reduced, and some passed entirely, approximately $300,000,000 will be paid out in dividends by American corporations on July 1.

The outflow will lend a substantial addition to the investment public's supply of money and by far the greater part of it is expected to find its way promptly back into circulation.

In addition to dividend payments, American corporations will distribute $500,000,000 in interest payments to bondholders.

July 1 is the most important summer settlement day of the year. Total payments by corporations on that date are equaled only by their January 1 disbursements.

A leading statistical organization, which lists virtually every corporation in which there is a public investment, estimates that approximately one out of nine are still paying dividends. Nearly 6,000 corporations are included in this study and approximately 650 of them are continuing dividend payments.

With money rates now at abnormally low levels, reflecting little turnover in the money market, the banks will welcome the chance to churn things up a little and get an added amount of it back into public circulation.

New York Reserve Plans Credit Aid

A campaign was launched to bring about the wider use of bankers acceptances in preference to actual cash advances by banks, in financing domestic trade.

"This should result in the use of additional bank credit, in increased movement of goods and raw materials, and lead to increased employment in industry," a statement issued by the bank read.

BIG GAIN REPORTED IN ACACIA BUSINESS

Increase of 33 1-3 Per Cent Attributed to New Liberalized Charter.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

A 33 1-3 per cent increase in written business since May 15 was announced to the field advisory committee of the Acacia Mutual Life Insurance Co. yesterday by President William Montgomery of that company.

Assembling here for discussion of plans and business development methods, the committee, composed of managers of the company's leading branches in their respective classifications was informed by Mr. Montgomery that since the new liberalized charter went into effect noteworthy advances have been made.

Mr. Montgomery stressed especially the fact that the 33 1-3 per cent gain since the foregoing date was accomplished without the slightest alteration of the company's high standards. The only change that has been made was the previously announced removal of the Masonic restriction in the company's contract permitted by recent liberalization of its charter by Congress.

The committee perfected plans for further development of personnel power and for still more effective endeavor relative toward business conservation. As a result of Mr. Montgomery's persistent insistence on conservation as a matter of greatest importance, the company's record in this particular is considered outstanding among life insurance companies. It is planned to devote still greater attention to conservation.

Advisory Field Committee.

The field advisory committee for the current period is composed of Cornelius Legters, of the Tampa, Fla., branch of the company; Roland Suter, of Baltimore, and Clarence Fritz, of Newark, N. J. President Montgomery, Vice President J. P. Yort, and Secretary Samuel E. Mooers, of the company, are ex-officio members.

President Thomas E. Jarrell, of the Washington Savings Bank, and of the real estate firm of Thomas E. Jarrell Co., celebrates his birthday today. A conspicuous figure in real estate and banking circles, he is a former president of the Washington Real Estate Board and has headed the savings institution for the past ten years.

He came to this city as a telegraph operator, later entering the real estate business and succeeding John D. Leonard as president of Washington Savings Bank, organized in 1917.

Open Washington Office.

The Washington office of Mackubin, Goodrich & Co., members of the New York and Baltimore stock exchanges, opened for business in handsome and much larger quarters on the ground floor of the Woodward Building yesterday. Ralph M. Wolfe is resident manager for the company and associated with him are Harry Brisker, Charles B. Quarles, and Henry M. Camp in the stock department, and Richard H. Wood, and John H. Clarke in the investment department.

Rights expiring July 15, have been granted to holders of Corporate Trust Shares, Accumulative Series and Series AA, and old series Corporate Trust Shares to purchase additional Corporate Trust Shares of either of the new series at a discount under the offering price to the extent of one new share for each ten shares held.

Second Wage Cuts Aid Readjusting of Trade

Second wage cuts are now being put into effect by a large number of companies, the United Business Service states. Of the reductions reported last month, more than 16 per cent were second cuts.

Calling attention to a recent survey completed by the National Industrial Conference Board, which revealed that three out of every four concerns have cut wage scales since 1929, the United Service forecasts that the readjustment of operating expenses to the new price level will be completed before the end of this year.

When this occurs, it is pointed out, losses in more and more companies will be minimized and solvency maintained.

Stocks.

Leaders suffered under the whip of light liquidation. Issues with dividends approaching were disturbed, and at closing many averages were near the bottom figures for June.

Bonds.

Despite some show of firmness in Federal loans, corporate bonds made poor resistance to liquidation, and the general list closed lower. There was a new low record in industrials.

Curb.

Prices were heavy despite a larger turnover than usual in trading. Losses among leaders were light. In several departments signs of a firmer tone appeared.

Wheat.

Grain values tumbled with the stock market showing. Wheat dropped near the season's lowest mark, influenced in addition to the sluggishness of the financial markets, by the lessening of black rust dangers.

Cotton.

Market held steady, and July selling comprised most of the business. Offerings were absorbed readily. Prices generally closed 3 to 6 points higher.

STOCK MARKET LIST REPEATS JUNE LOW

New York, June 27 (A.P.).—Light liquidation seeped through the stock market today, disturbing principally the half-dozen or so issues whose dividends soon come on the carpet, but nevertheless weighing down all groups sufficiently to approximate the old average low established early this month.

Market influences at the beginning of the new week were similar to those that wore out resistance last week. Congressional difficulties over relief and prospects that the session would run over into next month, as well as a heavily crowded dividend calendar appeared to govern the day's mood.

Prices rallied after the opening, tagging slowly behind a rise in sugar and cotton and a firm United States Government bond list. This narrow advance above Saturday's close found a fair accumulation of selling orders awaiting execution, and under the leadership of such issues as United States Steel, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Coca Cola, Corn Products, National Biscuit and Public Service of New Jersey, the market bogged down to a weak close. Transactions totaled 767,090 shares.

For the stocks mentioned net losses ranged from 1 to more than 4 points. United States Steel preferred was off 5 at the worst, while Norfolk & Western, presumably in anticipation of a dividend change, broke 9. International Business Machines lost 5. American Can, one of last week's softest leaders, fought off the trend, being virtually unchanged.

Wall street seemed less interested in foreign news, perhaps because of indications that the Lausanne conferees might put off further discussions until fall. There have been hopes of rather definite accomplishments, but the difficulties in reaching a settlement have been fully realized here so that prolonged negotiations would probably cause no surprise. Just at present markets are more intimately concerned with domestic problems.

Money and foreign exchanges were uninteresting, except that Japanese yen made a new record low. Gold currencies ruled about steady.

MONEY MARKETS

New York, June 27 (A.P.).—Gold currencies of Europe firmed slightly against the American dollar today, but the British pound sterling eased ¼ of a cent to 3.61⅛ for cables, while the Japanese yen dropped to another new all-time low at 26.96 cents. German marks and Scandinavian exchanges were also easy. French francs at 3.93¼ cents, Belgian francs at 13.92½ cents, Dutch guilders at 40.41 cents and Swiss francs at 19.48½ cents were up a little. The Canadian dollar improved.

PRICES HOLD STEADY ON COTTON MARKET

Much of Business Transacted Was July Liquidation Taken Up by Trade.

New York, June 27 (A.P.).—Much of today's business in cotton comprised July liquidation, but the near-month offerings were readily absorbed and prices held generally steady on some trade buying and a scattering demand promoted by relatively steady cables and reports of rains in the Kendall. July contracts sold up to 5.25, or 9 points net higher, but reacted partially in the late trading, closing at 5.21. The general market finished steady at net advances of 3 to 6 points.

The opening was 1 to 2 points higher in response to relatively steady cables and Eastern showers, which were considered unfavorable following the recent reports of excessive rainfall and boll-weevil weather in that section.

July liquidation was taken by the trade, and prices worked upward during the middle of the day, when active months sold about 4 to 9 points net higher, to 5.64 for December. Ready absorption of July encouraged the advance, but buying was restricted by weakness in grain stocks, and closing quotations showed reactions of 3 or 4 points from the best.

The first private late June condition report placed the crop at 73, compared with an estimate of 71.3 by the same authority last year. This indicated a reduction of 7 per cent in acreage with an area of 36,300,000. No indicated crop figures were given, and the report appeared to be without much effect on the market.

Tomorrow will be first notice day for July contracts here, but there was no very definite estimate as to how many might be issued. Liverpool cables reported Bombay buying supplied by local liquidation on the decline of about 16 to 17 points in Egyptian futures at Alexandria and said there was a moderate demand for cotton goods from the British home trade. Exports today, 2,976, making 8,347,078 so far this season.

Stock Price Drops In Dawes' Bank

Central Republic Denies Merger Plan With Largest Chicago Institution.

Chicago, June 27 (A.P.).—Quotations in capital stock of the Central Republic Bank & Trust Co. dropped heavily today from $47 bid and $49 asked to $38 and $40. Trading was extremely light, and there was no public announcement to explain the slump. Directors of the bank meet tomorrow for dividend action.

Charles G. Dawes resumed the chairmanship of the bank, relinquished when he was appointed Ambassador to Great Britain, at a meeting of the directors Sunday. Rumors of the bank's consolidation with the Continental Illinois Bank & Trust Co., largest in the city, were current since Gen. Dawes' return, but were denied recently by officers of both institutions.

SALVADOR CHARGES PLOT IN GUATEMALA

President Ubico Fears Plan to Invade Country and Stir Up Communists.

(Associated Press.)

A charge that President Jorge Ubico of Guatemala is supporting a conspiracy to invade El Salvador within two weeks was made by President Maximiliano Hernandez Martinez in a cablegram received yesterday at the Salvadorean Legation.

In his communication to Roberto D. Melendez, charge d'affaires of the legation, the El Salvador President said he had positive information that President Ubico is aiding Arturo Araujo, who was deposed in a revolution last December by Martinez, in a revolutionary attempt to invade El Salvador from both the Honduran and Guatemalan borders.

Fear that the alleged Araujo movement was fomenting revolt among the strong Communist element in El Salvador was expressed by Mr. Martinez, who said he believed the Communists were prepared to avail themselves of any opportunity to rise again against the present government.

A serious Communist revolt occurred several months ago in El Salvador. It was put down by government troops after United States, British and Canadian cruisers were rushed to Salvadorean waters with threats to land troops for protection of foreign residents unless the Communist threat subsided.

The Martinez government is not recognized by the United States, nor by any of the Central American countries.

Landing in Ocean Described by Four

New York, June 27 (A.P.).—Four passengers arriving today on the Santa Clara of the Grace Line recounted their experience on June 13, when the airplane carrying them to Lima, Peru, to catch the ship lost its landing gear, compelling the pilot to bring the plane down in the Pacific.

The four were Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Pierce, of Perry, Ga.; Carl C. Erlandson, of Washington, D. C., and William Q. C. Watt, of Santiago, Chile.

They took off from Cerro Azul, about 75 miles from Lima, and in taking off the plane lost its gear. The pilot flew on to Lima, circled the field there and dropped notes saying he would land in the ocean.

Boats and swimmers made ready to rescue the five. The passengers had been warned by Pilot Donald Perry to crawl out on the wings the moment the ship hit the water. The rescue was effected and the survivors swear neither their spirits nor their clothing was dampened.

2 Alleged Boxers Held On Liquor Accusations

Frank DeAngelo, 23 years old, and Nick Antonelli, also 23, both said to be boxers, were arraigned in police court yesterday on liquor charges.

DeAngelo was held under $1,000 bond on charges of transportation and possession, while Antonelli was held for the grand jury on a bond of $1,500 on charges of transportation.

Sanatorium Worker Praised.

With Friday set as the date for ground breaking for the Children's Tuberculosis Sanatorium, the board of directors of the Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis yesterday adopted a resolution in appreciation of Mrs. Ernest R. Grant's efforts on behalf of the project as chairman of the sanatorium committee of the Monday Evening Club.

DISTRICT ESTIMATES FOR '34 ARE ORDERED

Department Heads Must Submit Budget Figures by July 10.

Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor and budget officer, today will issue a formal call to the heads of all departments of the District government for the submission of their 1934 estimates to the Commissioners no later than July 10. The order, Maj. Donovan explained, will be "in keeping with the times" in its insistence upon the strictest economy.

As soon as these estimates are received the special economy committee, of which Maj Donovan is chairman, will begin a thorough study of each request and will suggest even further economies in its report to the commissioners. The committee expects to complete its work by August 1. The District budget is scheduled to be in the hands of the director of the budget by September 1.

Indications are that the District heads will use the paring knife more freely this year than last, when a new record in economy was set. Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, has already announced that even in the administration of the 1933 appropriations expenditures will be made on replacements and new projects only when it can be clearly shown that a saving will be effected over the cost of maintaining the old structure or street.

District officials are watching with keen interest the fight over the furlough and straight pay reduction proposals as they affect municipal employes, as the 1933 bill carries a Federal contribution of only $7,775,000. It was understood when this figure was agreed to by the Senate that the District government would save approximately $2,000,000 through wage reductions.

2 Bank-Theft Suspects Cleared; 1 Held Fugitive

Harry Miller, 25, and Edward Workman, 28, both of Columbia, S. C., arrested Saturday in Baltimore in connection with the robbery of the Georgia Avenue Branch of the Washington Mechanics Savings Bank on June 10, were cleared of suspicion in connection with the robbery when witnesses yesterday failed to identify either.

Workman was released by police, but Miller was held for Norfolk on a fugitive charge when Capt. B. W. Thompson, assistant chief of detectives here, received a telegram from Norfolk stating Miller is under indictment there.

$840 Jewelry Stolen In Absence of Owner

Jewelry valued at $840 was stolen from the home of Mrs. Sophie Madeovy, 12 E street southeast, she reported to police yesterday. The loot included four rings, a necklace, three watches and a platinum cluster.

Mrs. Madeoy said she had been out of town for several days and the house was in charge of her daughter, Miss Rockey Madeoy. Miss Madeoy slept in the room from which the jewelry was stolen, but worried little over its disappearance, thinking her mother had taken it with her.

JEWS ORDER STUDY TO AID RACE AMITY

Will Seek to Combat Alleged Prejudices Existing in Nation's Colleges.

A committee was yesterday instructed to prepare data to impress those in charge of American institutions of higher learning with a clearer evaluation of the Jew, both as a student and as a faculty member, as speakers told the concluding session of the American Jewish Congress yesterday that discrimination against Jewish students was being practiced in American universities.

Privately endowed medical schools have a quota for Jewish students, Dr. Aaron Brown declared. "They fail to recognize fully that their duty is to the public and, being exempt from taxations, they have no right to bar anyone for religious affiliations," he said.

"In industrial fields," Rabbi J. X. Cohen, chairman of the congress committee on economic problems, said, "the continuance of the economic depression has served in many instances to intensify the exercise of discrimination against the Jew."

"One of the major accomplishments of the American Jewish Congress," he said, "has been the rousing of Jewish leadership to a greater cognizance of the extent and area of discrimination. We must, however, guard against the danger of overemphasizing this subject," he asserted.

"Our investigations into the manifestations of racial bias in employment should be extended throughout the country with a central organization acting as a clearing house for all the data and information," Rabbi Cohen stated.

Anti-Jewish prejudice in school textbooks was termed an obstacle to racial amity by Rabbi Morton M. Berman, who addressed the congress.

Holding their last session at the Willard Hotel, the conference elected delegates to the World Jewish Conference, in Geneva, August 14, and elected officers for the year.

Dr. Stephen Wise was elected honorary prsident; Bernard S. Deutsch, president; Dr. Joseph Tenenbaum, chairman of the executive committee, and Max Rosenfeld, treasurer. There were ten vice presidents elected.

Thomas Circle Gaming Raid Prisoner Is Held

Edwin A. White, 54 years old, yesterday was ordered held for the grand jury under bond of $2,000 when he was arraigned in Police Court on a charge of setting up a gaming table. White was arrested in a raid at 1 Thomas Circle Saturday when 21 persons were found in the place.

Three men who did not appear in court after having been given summons by police will be arrested on attachments, Judge John P. McMahon said.

Man Swallows Poison; Is Patient at Gallinger

Henry Spears, 32 years old, a cab driver, of 2138 K street northwest, is in undetermined condition in Gallinger Hospital from the effects of a quantity of poison he is alleged to have swallowed early yesterday.

Spears, who is from North Carolina, has lived at the K street address a short time, it was said. He refused a reason for his act.

Lockjaw Is Fatal After Bicycle Fall

A fall from his bicycle on June 18 cost the life of Harold Brown, colored, 14 years old, yesterday. He died of lockjaw in Providence Hospital.

Harold was treated at the hospital the day he was injured and told to return for further treatment the next day. He failed to do so, and yesterday was striken with lockjaw at his home, 211 I street southeast.

He was taken to Providence Hospital, but physicians were unable to save his life. He died two hours after being admitted. Harold's injuries consisted only of a slight laceration on his left ankle.

Hurts From Slip on Soap In Bath Fatal to Man, 73

Injuries received June 21 when he slipped on a piece of soap and fell while taking a bath in his home, proved fatal yesterday to Richard Slye, 73 years old, retired District employe, of 216 John Marshall place. He died in Gallinger Hospital.

Gas Rate Hearing Plea Up Today.

The Public Utilities Commission today will consider the petitions of People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech and the Federation of Citizens Associations for an immediate hearing on consumer rates charged by the Washington and the Georgetown Gas Light Companies.

2 Policemen Find Beer in Gaming Hunt

Two members of the vice squad started yesterday to raid an alleged gambling establishment at 2106 Fourteenth street northwest. Instead they found beer—plenty of it.

Working on a "tip," Detectives J. K. Baker and Howard Ogle gained entrance by a rear door. The establishment was said to be operating on the second floor. As the policemen quietly made their way up the back stairs, two occupants were likewise going down another flight of steps. They escaped through the same door by which the policemen entered.

Once inside, Baker and Ogle made a hasty search, but finding no one, turned their attention to other things. In one room, they said, was a complete plant for making beer. This was left in operation when occupants of the establishment fled.

A patrol from the Second Precinct was called to aid in hauling the confiscated equipment away. More than 800 bottles of beer were seized besides a large quantity of mash and crocks.

Capper's Stolen Auto Recovered

Returned in Two Hours After Police Chase Ends in Arrest.

Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, chairman of the Senate District committee, received service from the Police Department last night. His automobile was recovered by police less than two hours after it was stolen in front of the Mayflower Hotel.

Shortly after it was reported stolen it passed the Third Precinct radio car at Twenty-sixth and E streets northwest. A swift chase followed, and as the senator's machine reached Riverside drive its occupants, two young boys, jumped and fled. The car came to rest against a tree, undamaged.

Police gave chase on foot and succeeded in capturing one of the boys. He said he was Robert Morlittle, 18 years old, of Graham, N. C. He claimed no knowledge of his companion's identity.

Two Drivers Held In Auto Fatality

Father of Dead Girl and Woman Are Detained for Grand Jury.

A coroner's jury yesterday held for the grand jury the drivers of two automobiles which collided Saturday, causing the death of a 15-year-old girl.

Dorothy Mayse, of Purcellville, Va., died in Emergency Hospital Sunday from internal injuries after a blood transfusion. She was a passenger in a car driven by her father, George G. Mayse, which collided with a car driven by Cleo Smith, 26, of Scotch Plains, N. Y., at Thirteenth and Q streets northwest.

The father, a patient at Emergency Hospital, was charged with reckless driving, and the woman was held at Woman's Bureau for investigation.

CONVICTED IN THEFT, EVANS GOES TO JAIL

Plea for Bond Is Denied by Court; Tax Inquiry Held Likely.

Dave Evans, former secretary-treasurer of the International Union of Operating Engineers, was remanded to jail yesterday by Justice James M. Proctor after he had been found guilty by a jury of charges of embezzling $32,000 of the funds of the union. He will be sentenced later. Evans, through his attorneys, had made a plea to be released on bond pending an appeal.

United States Attorney Leo A. Rover, who prosecuted Evans, traced about $30,000 in losses which Evans had suffered in bookmaking establishments here. He intimated to Justice Proctor in open court, in opposing Evans' release on bond, that the income tax authorities were considering an investigation of Evans' tax reports.

A former president of the union, Arthur M. Huddell, now dead, was blamed by Evans for the shortage in his accounts. He said that Huddell had withdrawn the money for organization purposes when a labor trouble developed in Cleveland. No receipts were ever obtained from Huddell, he said, but the union heads had often promised to send them to him, he said.

Man, 76, Dies of Hurts Inflicted by Automobile

Injuries suffered in an automobile accident last Thursday caused the death of William T. Beach, 76, of 931 Eleventh street northeast, in Gallinger Hospital yesterday.

According to police, the man was knocked down as he was crossing the street at Pennsylvania avenue and Third street northwest. The driver of the car was Thomas E. Malloy, jr., 27, of 128 Eleventh street northeast. He was arrested yesterday and is being held for coroner's jury.

Soldier Assaulting Wife Of Policeman Is Jailed

A 26-year-old soldier stationed at Fort Myer was sent to jail for 90 days and fined $10 yesterday in Police Court when he was convicted of intoxication and assault upon the wife and daughter of Policeman Samuel F. Smith, of 3500 Sixth street northwest.

The soldier, Corbert Hagner, attempted to pull Mrs. Smith into an automobile, and when her daughter, Louise Smith, went to her mother's aid, she was struck in the back, according to testimony.

Boy Shoots Self in Hand In Play With Revolver

The boy was in his father's truck, parked in the rear of 1500 H street northeast, when he found the revolver. He was treated at Casualty Hospital and later removed to his home. His condition is not serious.

PRINCIPALS TO RULE ON MOOT LECTURES

Each School Head to Decide Question of Tobacco and Alcohol Talks.

Principals of schools will decide whether lectures will be given their pupils on the evil effects of alcohol and tobacco, the Board of Education ruled yesterday on recommendation of Superintendent Frank W. Ballou.

This ruling reversed one of the board in 1927, which provided that all requests for lectures on controversial subjects be referred to the board. Dr. Ballou pointed out yesterday that the principals are in the best position to determine whether regular courses of instruction need to be supplemented. Request to make the lectures was made by William V. Mahoney, of the Anti-cigarette Alliance.

The board received a petition from Edward R. Williams, representing a group of citizens, to include in the school estimates for 1933 a sum sufficient to complete construction of a stadium at the new Roosevelt High School, improve the grounds and purchase adequate equipment and furniture. The petition was referred to the finance committee.

Use of manual training shops by the District committee on employment to train unemployed in machine work was granted. Announcement was made that on June 9 there were 3,592 more pupils in District schools than at the same time a year ago. Summer schools will open July 1. The 1931 salary schedule will be used pending action on the economy bill by Congress, Dr. Ballou was granted leave in July and August to teach school administration at Yale. The board will hold an organization meeting at 11 o'clock Friday.

Fall Down Steps Fatal To 69-Year-Old Woman

Mrs. Nancy Martin, 69 years old, of 32 Seaton place northwest, died in Sibley Hospital yesterday afternoon from injuries suffered last Friday when she fell down the steps at her home.

Post's Broadcast Popular Feature

Haycock Leads Orchestra Making Bow Over Station WOL.

Originating with the thought of giving readers of The Washington Post, who participated in The Post recent recording contest the additional thrill of radio broadcasting, a period each Monday at 5:45 p. m., broadcast over Station WOL, has become a well-established feature of that station.

Yesterday the program was conducted by Richard Bedell, who introduced a dance orchestra composed of David Haycock, leader; Kenneth Smith, Hunter Rowe, George Tracy and Alan Blanchard, with Bedell as soloist.

Heart Attack Kills Man At Work in U. S. Office

Francis Edward White, 30 years old, geologist preparator at the Geological Survey, died yesterday after a heart attack while at work. He was pronounced dead by Dr. Charles E. O'Connor, Government physician.

Born in Arkansas, Mr. White came to Washington as a child and entered the Geological Survey before the war. He is survived by his father, Doyle C. White, and a sister, Doris C. White. Masonic funeral services will be held at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning at the home, 1902 Jackson street northeast. Burial will be in Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

Woman Suing District Gets Verdict Affirmed

A decision of the District Court of Appeals, written by Associate Justice William Hitz, yesterday affirmed a verdict of a District Supreme Court jury which awarded Mrs. Robert H. Leys a $7,500 verdict against the District of Columbia.

Mrs. Leys fell and hurt herself January 17, 1926, when she stepped into a small hole in the sidewalk in front of 197 B street southeast. She charged the municipal government with negligence.

Heat Kills Man; Another Stricken

Temperature Hits Official Maximum of 93; Traffic Policeman Overcome.

Summer caught Washington in a merciless grip yesterday, taking the life of one man and incapacitating another. The victim of the heat, which reached an official maximum of 93 degrees at 2 p. m. and 98 at the kiosk, was James E. Wilkins, colored, 62 years old, of 119 G street northwest, where he collapsed shortly after 5 o'clock. He died at Casualty Hospital two hours later.

Policeman Harold Venable, 1618 D street southeast, of the Fourth Precinct, was stricken shortly after noon while directing traffic at New Jersey avenue and B streets southeast. He was treated at Emergency Hospital.

The humidity, according to the Weather Bureau, fluctuated throughout the day from 75 to 53. Showers and slightly cooler weather is predicted for today, with the return of fair weather tomorrow. The record summer temperature of last year was 99 degrees, recorded June 20.

Girl Forced by Bandits To Rob Escort in Park

Bandits forced a girl to rob her escort of $15 while the couple was parked in Rock Creek Park Sunday, according to park police.

Two bandits held up Albert L. Ashton, in charge of the Shoreham Saddle Club, and forced his companion, whose name was not revealed, to go through his pockets and turn his money over to them.

Printing Delegates Told Of Vollbehr Incunabula

"We are about to put into your hands the most precious jewel of our archives," officials of the Benedictine Abbey of St. Paul said to Dr. Otto H. F. Vollbehr when he acquired the Gutenberg Bible, Frederick W. Ashley, assistant librarbrian of the Library of Congress, related to delegates attending the eleventh annual conference on printing education, last night.

Telling the story of the Vollbehr collection of incunabula, Mr. Ashley said the collection of the 3,000 volumes which is now at the Congressional Library, is valuable source material for study in the life and thought of the fifteenth century. The sessions was held at the Library of Congress.

Explaining how the Gutenberg Bible was delivered to the United States, Mr. Ashley said the volumes were sealed in a water-tight metal case and then inclosed in a cubical trunk in Vienna. They were sent by special messenger to Paris, where the American Ambassador relayed the books to the Leviathan in Cherbourg Harbor.

Two men from the Library of Congress met the ship a day before she docked at New York with a revenue cutter, and being empowered by the Treasury Department in Washington, they carried the volumes to the Library of Congress, where they were deposited in a safe. A staff of scholars is engaged in identifying the incunabula, Mr. Ashley said.

Edward B. Passano, of Baltimore, addressed the printing group at a meeting yesterday morning at the Government Printing Office. Engineering precision should be applied to modern printing, he contended.

George H. Carter, Public Printer; Alvin W. Hall, director of the United States Bureau of Printing and Engraving, and Dr. J. C. Wright, director of the Federal Board of Vocational Education, greeted the conference. William Pfaff, New Orleans, president of the United Typothetae of America, which is sponsoring the convention, addressed the delegates.

The conference today will discuss the technical problems of printing. An exhibit of printing work of 62 high schools is a feature of the convention.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THE first of Manhattan's reigning triumvirate of Grade A revue producers to get going on his new season's contribution to the bedazzlement of the yeomanry seems to be Master George White, who has almost as thoroughly institutionalized his "Scandals" as the good Dr. Ziegfeld has his "Follies."

Master White, it seems, in company with Irving Caesar and William K. Wells, two of the more gorgeous of the Gotham gagsters (not gangsters, please, Mr. Compositor!) has hied himself to some convenient hideout far from the madding crowd to weld a few jokes and forge divers sketches for the twelfth of his gaucheries, expected on Broadway not later than mid-September.

The new production is expected to be outfitted with tunes from the music manufactory of Rodgers and Hart.

And Master White isn't through playing around with his eleventh "Scandals" yet, either. It is the present plan to send this pretentious bit of ribaldry on tour, beginning Labor Day, for a limited period of fourteen weeks—minus whatever degree of box-office magnetism it was that Mr. Rudy Vallee exerted.

At the conclusion of its American peregrinations, last year's "Scandals" will be presented in London under the joint sponsorship of Master White and the inevitable Mr. Cochran.

As has been previously hinted in this space, either Master White, or the good Dr. Ziegfeld—or even the adventurous Earl of Carroll—could do pretty well by himself and his show by giving Horace Heidt and His Californians, recently at the Earle, the once over. This aggregation of youthful musicians has everything it takes to bolster a revue. They could serve in a variety of individual capacities in addition to wowing the customers with an abbreviation of their 50-minute act seen locally only a few weeks ago.

And that reminds me. Washington, in supplying brilliant personalities for both the stage and screen, has never been laggard. The list of Washingtonians who have achieved fame in the amusement world is a long one and includes such distinguished artists as Wilton Lackaye, Billie Burke, William Pruett, R. D. MacLean, Helen Hayes, Ina Claire, Kate Smith, Patricia Bowman and scores more whose names have long been sources of pride to their home town.

There is another young woman, although technically a resident of Alexandria, Va., who is destined to join that select group as surely as tempus fugits and time and tide don't wait!

Her name is Margaret Ogden. That means nothing to you, of course, and for a long time meant nothing to me. Then Miss Ogden called and identified herself, and now I am passing the prophecy along to you that one of these days she will be a star. Well, all caps on the program anyhow, even if not in the light out front over the marquee.

Those who attended the National Theater Players' testimonial performance at the National on a Sunday night not so long ago will be able to identify Miss Ogden as the singing trap drummer with the girls' orchestra known as Adrianne and Her Aristocrats. It was remarked here at the time that this then unidentified young woman had a bright future before her. She still has, in the view of this column.

Although Margaret Ogden has never had a lesson as a percussionist she is a trained mezzo-soprano. The drumming is merely a surrender to a lifelong yen to wield the sticks and slam those cymbals! The way the crowd at the National broke through the band number to applaud Miss Ogden's Big Crosby bit and brief imitation of Joe Penner would have been all the tipoff needed by a professional scout had there been one in the audience.

Remember the name and watch what I tell you—the girl will be up there.

Tonight at 11 a special invitational screening of Howard Hughes' much discussed production of "Scarface," with Paul Muni, Osgood Perkins, C. Henry Gordon and Ann Dvorak in the principal roles, will be given in the Palace Theater in compliment to Commissioner Crosby and Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, chief of the Metropolitan Police Department.

Speaking of the Palace, Jean Harlow, currently occupying the screen there in the title role of Katharine Brush's "Red Headed Woman," has decided that Saturday of this week, July 2, will be as good a time as any to become Mrs. Paul Bern. So they will be married on that date at the home of the bride's mother and stepfather, the Count and Countess Merino Bello—but not necessarily in the order named!

By the way, how many tubes did the Chicago convention blow out of your radio set yesterday?

Navy Officer's Wife Injured in Taxicab

Mrs. T. J. Searles Suffers Brain Concussion as Machines Crash.

Mrs. T. J. Searles, 35 years old, wife of Lieut. Comdr. T. J. Searles, U. S. N., was injured yesterday when the taxi in which she was a passenger collided with another machine near Eighteenth and Q streets northwest.

The cab, driven by Milton B. Roberts, 26 years old, of Arlington, Va., struck the machine of W. C. Egert, 45 years old, of 1620 R street northwest, who was leaving a parking space.

Mrs. Searles was taken to the office of Dr. Harry Vehner, 1821 Q street northwest. After receiving first aid, she was removed to the Naval Hospital. Her condition is undetermined. She is suffering from concussion of the brain and shock.

COBLENTZ TESTIFIES AT TRIAL OF RAICHLE

Declares He Signed Papers When He Visited Pitts; Four on Stand.

The trial of Frank G. Raichle on charges of obstruction of justice and subornation of perjury moved closer to its conclusion yesterday when four Government witnesses occupied the stand all day. They were Emory L. Coblentz, Maryland banker; John H. Edwards, a former vice president of the F. H. Smith Co.; Lloyd Hahn, a former employe of Coblentz, and H. O. Hart, an accountant.

Coblentz, who is under indictment here for conspiracy to suborn perjury, testified he visited G. Bryan Pitts in Florida and signed papers, which, he said, he thought were only to be used to complete the corporate records of certain institutions with which he had been connected.

These papers, it developed, found their way into Pitts' trial when they were offered for identification. They form the basis of the charge against Raichle of obstruction of justice. Coblentz also said he had heard Raichle tell Pitts that no recently signed papers were to be used as evidence in the case.

The Maryland banker, whose banks collapsed last September, said also he had telephoned Raichle and had two men listen in on the conversation. This talk was taken down in short hand by one of the two men. In one portion Raichle was quoted as saying to Coblentz: "My God, Coblentz, I tried to try that case on the square."

Hahn identified a transcript of the talk. Edwards, now serving a three-year sentence for conspiring to embezzle $5,000,000 from the F. H. Smith Co., on which charge Pitts went to jail for fourteen years, will continue his testimony today.

Three Women Visitors Cut in Fountain Crash

Three women suffered lacerations and shock yesterday when the car in which they were riding crashed into the fountain in Truxton Circle.

The driver of the car, Elizabeth Closser, 27, of Washington, Pa., and her two companions, Mrs. Hans Denny, 60, of Waynesburg, Pa., and Mrs. Judie McKee, 52, of Sycamore, Pa., were removed to Sibley Hospital and treated for lacerations of the face, hands and legs. None was hurt seriously and all were returned to 5 Adams street northwest, where they are staying while in the city.
